Heritage of Death or Life.
 Why do two infants out of every ten die before the end of their first year in this country, and in some civilized countries as many as one in every three? Why do only about eight per cent of the infants of the rich die, while among the poor the rate is often as high as 40 per cent? Education for parenthood includes a study of practical hygiene of such a nature that it may be applied to life at once instead of a muddle of misinformation. It means a sound grounding in the principles that man may not live to himself alone, but that he is a part of all that he sees, hears, feels and thinks, that upon right living today will depend the character of our children of tomorrow.—Ernest Bryant Hogg, M. D., in Mothers' Magazine.

Temper Not In-Born.
 To imagine that you were born with a hasty temper is a mistake. The spirit was fostered in you from infancy. Parents often think a display of "peppery spirit" in their offspring is "cute," and the thought of curbing such tendencies seldom enters their minds. If they would only realize that they are storing up trouble and unhappiness for their little one by allowing it to have "its own way" they would discourage the first display of temper or obstinacy.—Exchange.
