TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO IN THE REPORTER

From the issue of May 17, 1895:

Married, at the M. E. church, May 9, Mr. Shepley Moss and Miss Alfreda Lamb, eldest daughter of Milton Lamb, both of the Grove. Miss Lulu Rasmussen and Miss Mary Tenney served as bridesmaids, escorted by A. E. Cross and George Cross as groomsmen. Rev. Guthrie officiated assisted by Rev. A. E. Saunders.

John Oldfield returned Tuesday morning from a two months' tour of Nebraska and Iowa. He reports that country in fine condition.

Captain Rogers left Tuesday evening for the State G. A. R. encampment at Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith moved this week to Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Smith having resigned as chief clerk freight accounts of the "Monon," will take a similar situation with the Lake Shore railway.

Louis Klein says he isn't going to make so much noise party in the morning hereafter. He doesn't care to be taken for a burglar and be made a mark for Harry Martin to shoot at. Let's hear what it was all about, Louis.

The Lord Lumber Co. has enclosed their yard with a new high board fence.

The Lady Minstrels gave a very good performance last week and have promised to repeat this big laughing show.

The cold wave and rains arrived as per schedule Saturday night. Some cold and some rains.

The Straube piano factory is now running almost at full blast. Very beautiful instruments are being turned out by this local concern.

Reading Cases.
The New York Medical Record in an article entitled "The Face and Its Expression in Diagnosis" is of the opinion that the Sherlock Holmes faculty in the average doctor enables him to read in his patient's face in a moment's observation that which the laboratory or physical examination will be a long time finding out. Going somewhat further the writer says that the physician may have read something in the face of the dog of the patient's household. That at the doctor's first visit the dog's face would have shined forth a welcome; at the next day he could read unalloyed gladness at his visit and confidence in him; at the third visit the dog's face would wear a dejected look. The wise physician would know what this meant. The family had "changed doctors."

Trial by Ordeal.
Trials by ordeal, at one time or another, have been practiced in every European country. Probably they originated in India at a time so ancient that history does not encompass it. The Hindu code of Manu says: "He whom the flame does not burn, when the water does not cast up or whom no harm soon befalls, is to be taken as truthful to his oath." This Manu, by the way, was the Hindu Noah, the hero of the Sanskrit story of the flood and was the earliest lawgiver of the Hindus.

Help Yourself.
Elsie came home from a neighbor's house munching a chocolate.
"Now, Elsie," her mother reproved her, "how many times have I told you not to ask Mrs. Gray for chocolates?"
"I didn't ask her," returned Elsie calmly. "I don't have to. I know where she keeps them."

WHERE PAPRIKA COMES FROM
Foreign Product Now Successfully Raised by Many Farmers in South Carolina.
Years ago agents of the bureau of plant industry turned their attention to paprika pepper. We don't know what headed them toward pepper, and the report of their work does not tell us, a writer in Everybody's says. Paprika pepper is probably a mighty small item in our national food budget. Up to that time we imported all that we used from Hungary and Spain. Our agents studied the characteristics of the plant and the soil and climate and cultivation that it required. Then they came back to this country to discover where paprika pepper could be profitably grown here. Down in Florence county, South Carolina, they found what appeared to be the required soil, climate and labor conditions. Moreover, the land there was not giving a really profitable account of itself. After the department had proved by its own experiments that paprika pepper could be successfully grown in South Carolina, it furnished seed to a group of farmers who agreed to grow it under their directions. This was to insure a product of a proper standard. The industry is now fairly well established, and if ever we should be at war with Hungary and Spain at the same time, probably South Carolina could supply all the jaded palates of this country with a standard brand of paprika pepper.
Poisoner Given Terrible Punishment.
Louise Mabre, a Parisian baby farmer, who in 1763 was proved to have done to death no fewer than 62 infants by administering to them carefully graduated doses of white arsenic mingled with powdered glass, was sentenced to be shut up in an iron cage with 16 wild cats, and suspended over a slow fire. This was done, with the result that when the cats became infuriated with heat and pain they turned their rage upon her, and after 25 minutes of the most horrible sufferings put an end to her existence, the whole of the cats dying at the same time or within a few minutes after it.
Rule for Blies.
An Atchison man and his wife have played 112 games of pinochle in five weeks. There's a happily married couple for you, because so many games of cards signify that the man spends his evenings at home with his wife and that she is content to remain there instead of running around.—Atchison Globe.
