French Troops Land at Athens After Monarch Resigns.

Brother-in-Law of Kaiser Surrenders Throne as Allies' Envoy Arrives to Demand Concession and Soldiers March Into Capital.

Athens, June 14.—King Constantine abdicated on Tuesday in favor of his second son, Prince Alexander. His abdication was the result of a demand made by the entente allies.

Premier Zaimis made the announce ment of the resignation and designation of his successor. He said also that Constantine and Crown Prince George would leave the country.

May Go to Switzerland. Constantine has expressed the intention of embarking on a British warship and proceeding to Switzerland by way of Italy. Allied troops have occupied Elassona without fesistance. There has been no disorders m Athens up to the present.

Career of Constantine. King Constantine's abdication is the culmination of his quarrel with the entente allies, which stretches back Turkey's entrance into the great war, and is perhaps the last political act of a royal career marked by a series of ups and downs, Venizelos' Following. A strong party, however, led by the statesman Venizelos, is not only prowar but pro-ally.

Effort after effort was made by the entente and the Veniselists to force Constantine to draw his sword against the central powers, especially since the entente troops landed at Saloniki, tardily taking up operations in the Balkans following the collapse of the Gallipoli campaign. But couraged by his queen and the Teutonic league, he resisted only to see his power wane, his subjects break into revolt and his army locked up in the Peloponnesus, where it could not attack the entente forces from the rear, as it was suspected the Germanic court clique had planned to do, par ticularly after the outbreak last year of the military against the entente expedition occupying Athens,

Constantine was born in Athens on August 3, 1963, the name Constantine being given him as an indication of the ambitions of the recently liberated nation to extend its sway to incinde the capital of the Turkish emare, and succeeded his father, George on the thone after his parent's asesectination at Saloniki in 1913.

LESSON FOR JUNE 17

THE RISEN LORD.

LESSON TEXT-John 20:2-16.

GOLDEN TEXT-But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept .- I Cor. 15:20. The death of Christ made a deep impression upon the beholders (Luke ,23:48, 49). Joseph, who seems to have been a secret disciple, obtained the body, and gave it burial (Mark 15 42-47). In Mark's record we have the story of the discovery of the resurrection by the women, and Matthew tells us how his enemies dealt with that fact. Be sure to use a good harmony of the four gospels in presenting all of these lessons, else some important detail will be overlooked.

I. Mary's Visit to the Tomb (vv.1-10). The Sabbath ended at sundown and the shops were then open, and Mary Magdalene was able to purchase spices with which to anoint the dead body of Jesus. There is strong probability that the women paid a visit to the tomb late on Saturday (Matt. 28:1, R. V.). Starting the next morning, "while it was yet dark" (v. 1), they came to the tomb to perform this Alexander, the new king, was born last service of love. Jesus had no 19), but the women were rewarded by receiving the first glimpse of the risen Lord. There were five appearances on this first day of the week: (1) to Mary Magdalene, (2) to the "other women," (3) to Peter; (4) to those on the way to Emmaus, and (5) to the ten disciples, Thomas being absent,

None of these seemed to expect Jesus to be risen, for they had each failed to listen to and ponder his words. The extent and genuineness of the affection of the women is found in that they went to serve Jesus when apparently all hope had falled (I Cor. 13:8, R. V.). As soon as Mary anw the stone rolled away, she concluded that the tomb had been rifled, and hastened to report to the disciples (v. 2). This report of the women to the disciples was considered "as idle tales" (Luke 24:11). With intense engerness Peter and John ran to the tomb thus reported as being robbed. John, the younger, renched the tomb first, but in reverence did not enter, only stooping to look in (vv. 4, 5). Peter, the impetuous one, rushes in side, and sees the linen clothes lying and the napkin that had been about the head carefully folded and lying in a place by itself (v. 7). This appar ently insignificant detail is one which is really significant, insamuch as it shows that the tomb had not been rifled, leaving disorder behind, Instead of excitedly snatching the napkin from his face, and hurling it whither it might fall, he had quietly taken it off, and in an orderly way laid it aside. It is in such minute detalls as this that we see the greatest evidence of the veracity of this rec-

II. Mary Weeping (vv. 11-15). The disciples returned to their own homes, and doubtless to the other disciples (v. 10), but the loving Mary remained behind in this place made sacred as having housed the body of the Lord. army officers having been trained in It is natural for us to linger in silent meditation in places of our greatest Constantine's people are, however, revelation or of our deepest soul exdivided. A portion, prompted per- perience. Jesus had told his disciples enemies should have remembered ! (Matt. 27:63) and his friends not Mary looked into the tomb to see if after all there had not been some misinke. She it was who saw the two angels, and, half in wonder and yet in protest, they exclaimed, "Woman, wh; weepest thou?" Her reply was most natural and touching, "Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him." In sorrow she turns from the tomb, only to see the risen Lord, though as yet she does not recognize him (vv. 14, 15). Her answer to the questions of Jesus are suggestive, and the record is certainly not one that has been adroftly painted, but is the plain record of facts as they actually

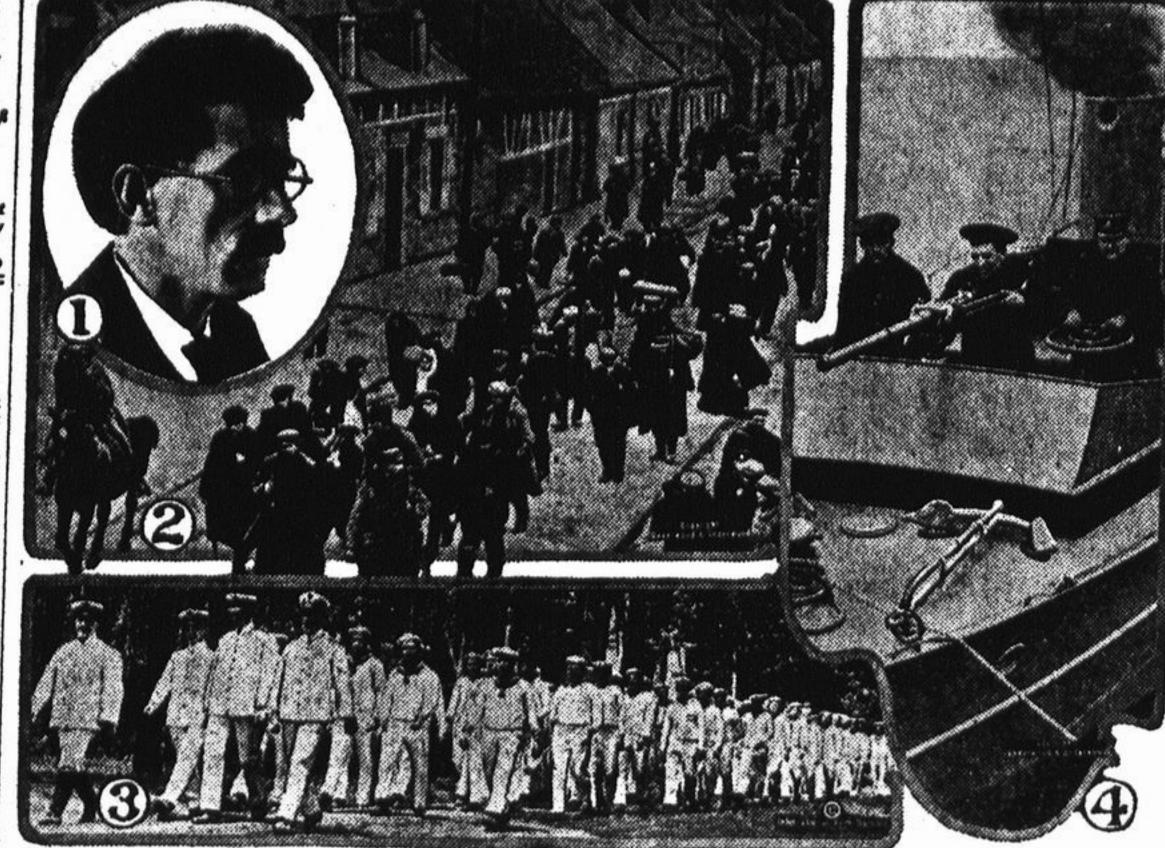

> III. Mary Worshiping (TT. 18-18). There must have been an inflection in the voice of Jesus, for, upon the utterance of that one word, "Mary," she recognized her risen Lord. Joyfully the exclaimed, "Rabboni," that is to say, "Master" (v. 16), and would have poured out her love and worship at his feet. Jesus, however, does not suffer her to hold him fast. Mary must tenve him and tell the others. Liter. ally, he says, "Do not lay hold of me but go and make known the glad truth that I am risen again." The risen Lord must return to "My Father" and "My God," whereas the one who would gladly have remained at his feet must go to the brethren, and make known the facts of the fulfillment of prophecy and the resurrection of our Lord.

The bribed soldiers spread abroad the tale that the disciples had stolen of the food situation in Greece and his body. The later lives of these disbodies of French troops have ciples, their heroism and martyrdom, are evidence of the absurdity of any

The advancing Italian army is only a few miles from the great Austrian naval base at Trieste. The photograph shows a panorama of Trieste and was taken from Miramar, the home of the Archduke Maximilian, afterward emperor of Mexico. In the foreground running along the shore is the important railroad connecting Trieste with Venice, the Isonzo and Vienna. At the foot of the hill is one of the fortifications. In the middle distance is shown the breakwater harbor and main part of the city. In the background, fronting the bay, is Servola, the site of Austria's great payal ship-building yard.

MISS RANKIN PLANTS TWO TREES

Miss Jeanette Rankin of Montana, our only congresswoman, has added arboriculture to her list of accomplishments. With the aid of three movie photographers, a few congressmen, a handful of spectators and a pair of diminutive trees, Miss Rankin added to the landscape on the capitol grounds. She planted a fir tree and a California Redwood.
