In computing the number of men to be required from the various states the government put to the credit of each state every man it now has in the National Guard and every man it has contributed since April 1 as a war volunteer to the regular army.

Computation Method.

Official Alfotment Shows What Part Placing on the debit side of the ledger the national army of 500,000, the entire National Guard at war strength and the number of war volunteers needed on April 1 last, to bring the Washington.-A formal order by regulars up to the war strength, the President Wilson, drafting 687,000 Into grand total was apportioned according the military service under the selective conscription law, was promula to population. This gave a gross quota for each state, from which a net quota was computed by checking off the number of National Guardsmen available for fed eral service and the number of men given by the state to the regular army

The apportionment was made on the basis of an estimated grand total for the United States and its possessions of 105,300,056 inhabitants.

This is a paper estimate, computed from registration returns, which comes within the law requiring distribution of quotas by population, but which equalizes in a great measure the burto organize the first 500,000 of the new den that is to fall upon the 4,559 exemption districts. Total of 1,152,985.

Each will furnish under this apportionment the men its total registration would indicate as a fair proportion. Later another 500,000 will be called rather than the number the actual popout, supplemented by sufficient men ulation of the district would indicate The total of these gross quotas is 1.

> 152,985 men. Credit is given to the various states for a total of 405,985 voluntary enlistments in the National Guard and regulars, making the total net quota for all states 697,000 men.

Illinois, which was the first big state to fill its quota for the regular army reduced its gross quota of 79,094 to aggregate number of 697,000 men to 51,653.

Daughters of the American Revolution.— Hold a monthly meeting on the third Tuesday of each month in the homes of the members. Officers of the chapter are: Regard, Yerne Frankenfield; Mrs. Lawara their best when they are allowed to lead. If they occupy a prominent position, if their decisions settle doubtfu questions, they are ready to work as hard as anyone. But if someone else is leader, their activities are confined to criticism and faultfinding. It is a good thing to be ready to lead when you are called to leadership, but it is most unfortunate not to know how to
