INTERESTING LETTER TELLS OF STORM AT SEA

to Nagasaki. We took on some coal there and we left there yesterday, Thursday, and we will arrive in Nagasaki tomorrow morning about ten o'clock. We will pull in there in a very crippled condition, we lost five life boats and one soldier overboard and our star board side at the bow is all stove-in. They say that we will have to stay in Nagasaki for about ten days while the boat goes in dry dock for repairs and that will bring us in the dear old U. S. A. the twenty-first or about then.

LIBRARY NOTES

The circulation for the month of September was Adults - 625, Juvenile 371, Periodicals - 89.

The response to the call for books for the soldiers and sailors libraries has been very generous. Help keep the work up by telling your friends. The first shipment will be sent in from the Downers Grove Public Library within the next week.

WHERE RATS ARE PROTECTED

In Copper Mines of Michigan Rodents Are Regarded as Preventors, Not Carriers, of Disease.
 There are few places in the world where rats are well thought of, but in the copper mines of Michigan there are, so universally despised, and causing so much danger to health and damage to property everywhere else, are regarded differently. In the shafts of the copper mines hundreds of feet below the surface dwells a species of rat that never sees the light of day and is held in high appreciation by the miners. It is because these underground rodents are valuable to sanitation, preventors rather than carriers of disease. They indulge in no depredations for the reason they exist within rockbound walls enclosing nothing possible for animals such as they destroy.

Wives as Wage Earners.

More than one-tenth of the married women of the United States were engaged in gainful occupations in 1910, according to figures recently given out by the bureau of the census, and over 25 per cent of all women sixteen years old or over were wage earners, business women, etc. Since 1910 the per centages undoubtedly have increased rather than diminished, for the tendency of women in this country has been toward greater economic freedom for many years. In 1900 the number of married women in gainful occupations was only 799,000, while in 1910 it was 1,890,000, says Popular Mechanics. The statistics referred to show that the proportion of women—married, single and widowed—who are earning their living is greater than ever before, but it is particularly interesting to find that of all the groups cited, the proportionate increase in the number of married women is the greatest.

Philosopher Dooley.

'Tis a strange thing when we come to think of it that th' less money a man gets fr his wurruk th' more necessary it is to th' wurruk that he shud go to Paris on a combination wedding an' divorce trip an' no wan bothers his head about him. But if ye shud go to Paris—excuse me fr laughin' meself black in th' face—th' industries iv th' country pines away.—Exchange.

Little Things That Count.

The sunshine of life is made up of very little beams that are bright all the time. To give up something when giving up will prevent unhappiness; to yield, when persisting will chafe and fret others; to go a little around rather than come against another; to take an ill look or a cross word quietly, rather than resent or return it—these are the ways in which clouds and storms are kept off and a pleasant and steady sunshine secured.

Unkind Comment.

The death recently took place in Ireland of a well-known singer who had a massive physique. This was rather a drawback in the case of certain sentimental songs which were hardly applicable to his girth. One night, when in Dublin, he gave an encore, the well-known Irish song, "I'm sitting by the stile, Mary, where we sat side by side." An irreverent person in the gallery exclaimed: "Ah, sure, there wouldn't be room for the two of you now."

MAN'S WAY OF DOING THINGS

Mr. Pickles Gives Demonstration of Superiority of His Methods Over Those Used by Women.
 Men who can turn their hands to any sort of job that needs doing are very useful as husbands. Mr. Pickles was one of these useful gentlemen. His amiable wife once asked him to hang a picture she had purchased for the parlor, and he said that he would do it "in a jiffy."
 "You just get me the cord and a picture hook," he said to his wife, "and tell the servant girl to run down into the cellar and bring up the step ladder and carry it into the parlor, and where's those two little screw things—unsuns that go into the back of the frame at the sides to put the cord through? Look them up for me; and I shall require the gimlet to bore a little hole for the screws. Somebody get the gimlet, or maybe I can drive them in with a hammer. Johnny, you run down into the cellar and get the hammer. Perhaps a chair would be better than the step ladder. Somebody go out into the kitchen and get me a chair. I don't want to stand on one of the parlor chairs. Got that cord? Just measure off about the right length, and fasten it to those little things at the side. There, now; there's your picture hung up, and so fuss about it. The difference between us men and you women is that when we have anything to do we do it, and don't talk all day about it."

Scaring Them Away.

Frank A. Vanderlip, chairman of a Liberty Loan committee, said in New York:
 "The loan machinery was made easy, simple and informal, so that all could come in. We didn't want to scare the plain people away, you know."
 "Some of our past loans did scare the plain people. They were like the swaggar seashore hotel."
 "This hotel was so very swaggar that the guests all felt like inmates or prisoners."
 "There was a little man who arrived there one night and rang his bell for some ice water. No answer. He rang again. Still no answer. Then he put his finger on the button and held it there till he heard footsteps.
 "A knock, and a maidsmaid entered. She looked at the little man scornfully.
 "'Did you ring?' she asked.
 "'Yes,' said he.
 "'Humph,' said the maid. 'Who lifted you up to the bell?'"

There is more Catarah in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable.

Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarah is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarah Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts thru the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarah Cure fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
