TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO IN THE REPORTER

(From the issue of Feb. 13, 1896.)
Frederick Cappiegan, of Evanston, attended the camp fire last Thursday evening, the guest of his old comrade in arms, M. E. Stanger.
Married at St. Nicholas church in Aurora, Monday, February 10, Mr. Matt Wengler of this village and Miss Mary Michels of Aurora. Mr. Wengler is well known here as a steady and industrious man, enjoying the esteem and confidence of all who knew him.

We have it on no less authority than Capt. T. S. Rogers that J. M. Barr attended church last Sunday for the first time in thirty years.
The carnival of Merchants and Nations given at the Auditorium last Friday and Saturday evenings, by the Ladies of the Library Association, was the most successful event held here in years. The Nations were represented by the following:
Old Colonial—Mrs. G. L. Bush
Japan—Mrs. A. R. Heckman
Norway—Mable Rutherford
Russia—Lottie Mertz
Sweden—Joan Kellogg
Nun—Julia Kellogg
Normandy Pesant—Hettie Wylie
Old English—Edith Wylie
Scotland—Ethel Edwards
Indian—Mrs. Law
Persian—Miss Way
Swiss Pesant—Lottie Scofield
Spain—Jean Fidler.

Merchants and trades were represented as follows: Bateman & Palmer, Gertrude Chambers and May Palmer; Rush & Simonson, Dell Stanley; A. J. Thompson, Cora Echer, assisted by Pearl DeGroot and Ella Mertz; Postoffice, May Werley; W. S. Carpenter, Nellie Carpenter; Mary Diener, Rose Bunning; Mertz & Mochel, May Graves; D. G. Graham, Edith Graham; A. H. Saxon, Ollie Mertz; Hughes & Gallup, Grace Frankel; and Laura Hughes; Courtright, Mrs. Sacksteder; Mrs. Foote, Maude Cobb; Dr. Siddons, Emma Siddons; Dr. Burns, Miss Black; E. H. Prince, Ella Hoffert; Louis Klein; May Doty; John Haas, Nellie Johnson; Mrs. Flaggore, G. Flaggore; W. H. Colville, Miss Whitney; D. K. Craig, Miss Parke; J. B. Downer, Florence Frankel; Mr. Bowman, Lucy Darnley; Cooper, Ruby Crescy; Tholin, Carrie Mason; Library Florence Wootton; School, Grace Kimball; B. B. Club, Doris Frankel; Tennis, Josie Forbes; Bryce, Ida Bryce; The Bank, Glenn Edwards and Ben Weatherbee—the merchant and the farmer; F. A. Brode & Co., Miss Pearl Ary. Lydia Sucher and Carrie Colwell were topsys.

SAME OLD CUPID

By ALICE KILLIAN.

"There's no other satisfactory way out of it," gasped the old Scotchman, Roderick MacTavish on his deathbed, "and I rely on you to see to it that my wishes are respected."
"You mean that having left half your fortune to Robert Brinsley and half to Edith Allen, the whole to go to James Strling unless the two parties of the first part keep the property undivided by marriage, your wish is that they shall comply with the terms of your will, and inherit the estate."
"That is my desire," said the Scotchman, "but put in a codicil that if you succeed in inducing the couple to accept the provision and inherit as man and wife you are to receive twenty-five thousand dollars from the estate."
I lost no time in inserting this bequest and in getting the will signed and witnessed. MacTavish died within twenty-four hours after it was executed.
It would require a hundred pages of typewritten matter to explain why the old Scotchman wished his property to go to these two persons. Therefore I shall not attempt it in this very brief story. I had twenty-five thousand dollars at stake and as soon as the will was offered for probate I made a preliminary visit to each of the parties to see what chance there was in the matter.
"How much is the legacy?" asked Brinsley.
"Two hundred thousand dollars," "My half would be a hundred thousand. Do you suppose I'm going to get myself tangled up with a woman for that. I have three times that amount already."
Miss Allen had no fortune and she very much desired the legacy of the half of it. "Why can't we be married," she asked me, "part immediately, and when we receive the estate divide it and get a divorce."
"You can," was my reply.
I went back to Brinsley and submitted this proposition. He would have nothing to do with it. I showed him that by refusing he was keeping a woman out of one hundred thousand dollars. Bob was a fine fellow and he said at once: "You go tell her that if she will agree to the divorce the moment I say the word, I'll marry her and she may keep the whole of the two hundred thousand dollars."
That he might not have time to change his mind I broke the speed law in getting to Miss Allen and informed her of the generous offer. She was amazed.
"Are you sure that proposition came from a man?" she gasped.
I assured her of the fact and received her consent to draw up a gentleman's and lady's agreement that after a marriage between the two neither would claim any matrimonial privilege, and neither would object to a divorce when desired by the other. What pleased me almost as well as the money I would get out of the transaction was that the stubborn MacTavish would after all fall in trying to have his way after he was dead.
I asked the bride and groom a few days before the wedding if they would like to meet before being married, but neither thought that anything would be gained by seeing one another. I believed Brinsley but not Miss Allen. In the first place she was curious, as women naturally are, and in the second she was unable to conceal from me the fact that Bob's generosity had had a serious effect upon her. She said that if the groom-to-be had a desire to see her she had no objection to meeting him. Otherwise she would be content with his society for the ten minutes that would be required to go through the ceremony.
The wedding was to take place at five o'clock in the afternoon, Brinsley having an appointment at his club for a seven o'clock dinner. I got all the papers drawn and ready for signature and at four called at Bob's office with them. I was to act as attorney for both and to read the documents to them just before the ceremony. Bob and I jumped into a taxi and rode to Miss Allen's. There I introduced the contracting parties, set down by a table and read the papers aloud.
The reading took up half an hour, at the end of which time a person who was waiting was called in and the ceremony performed. While my eyes were fixed on the documents of course I could not see the bride and groom. During the ceremony I noticed that Bob had lost something of his sang froid; the bride was inscrutable.
At the conclusion of the service Bob and I were about to leave, when the bride said she would like a few words with Mr. Brinsley. She desired his own personal word that he would keep the letter and the spirit of the agreement that had been made. She knew nothing about law, but she could understand a promise. Seeing that she wished to speak to him alone, I went away without him.
During the evening, knowing that he had an engagement at the club, I dropped in there. It was about nine o'clock when I arrived and I was astonished to hear that he had not been there. The man he was to meet had flined alone. Moreover Brinsley had not offered an excuse for not keeping his appointment.
I heard nothing from Brinsley for two months, when he informed me that he had not parted, as agreed with his wife, before her marriage, and had just returned from a wedding tour.

The following report of the Grand Jury for the January Term, 1918 of the Circuit Court was read to the full Board and on motion of Supervisor Hammerschmidt was accepted and ordered a matter of record:
State of Illinois, County of DuPage, ss.
In the Circuit Court of DuPage County.
January Term, A. D. 1918.
To the Honorable Saxezi Stonor, Judge of Said Court:
The Grand Jury selected, summoned, empanelled and sworn for the January Term, A. D. 1918 of said Court would respectfully report that they have examined all complaints made to them and that Eleven true bills were voted, which are herewith returned into open court, and that two no bills were voted.

They would further report that they have examined the Court House and they find the same well cared for and well preserved, and they feel that the clean condition in which they find the said Court House, is due to the untiring efforts of Michael Thomann, janitor of said building.
They would further report that they examined the jail and find the inmates are being properly cared for, the jail clean and wholesome, and that everything at the said County Jail indicates much care and attention on the part of Sheriff John F. Hesterman.
They further desire to make of record their appreciation of the ability displayed by State's Attorney Chas. W. Hadley, his eminent fairness and his desire to do justice by the people of the County and those against whom charges have been preferred.
All of which is respectfully submitted.
W. H. Blodgett, Chairman.
On motion of Supervisor Hammerschmidt the Board adjourned to Call of Chair.
A. A. Kuhn, Clerk.
