

IN AND AROUND THE HIGH SCHOOL

THE "STAFF" Arthur Jenness, Editor in Chief... Frank Waples, Gladys Whitney, Guthrie Boon, Bob Mansfield

JUNIOR - SENIOR BANQUET

The Junior-Senior Banquet of 1918 is now a matter of history. It was given to the Seniors last Friday the supper being served by the ladies of the Congregational church.

The menu was: Grape Fruit, Fricassee of Chicken Mashed Potatoes, Baking Powder Biscuits, Jelly, Olives, Head Lettuce Salad With Thousand Island Dressing, Toasted Crackers, Fresh Strawberry Sundae, Wafers, Coffee

Everyone present greatly enjoyed the meal, but the program was the most important part of the affair. Every one of the numbers was a "top notcher."

The program follows: The Seniors, James Milnes, Response, Leroy Bruns, The Faculty, Earnest Hammerschmidt, Response, Mr. Feasley, Piano, Esther Klein, First Impressions of D. G. H. S., William Quincy

The Downers Grove High School, Adelaide Walter, Response, Miss Edsall, Vocal Solo, Miss Sandberg, Reading, Lucy Riecy, Reminiscences of the Assembly Hall, Frank Waples, Thelma Roe, Piano Solo, Arthur Jenness, Toastmaster

Prof. Butler, Superintendent of the school and J. R. Shaffer, president of the Board of Education were guests and being called on by the toastmaster, responded in their usual able manner.

After the program the guests played several mirth provoking games until time to leave. As the sixty-one Seniors, Juniors and members of the Faculty departed, everyone expressed the sentiment that they had been well fed, both physically and mentally.

One of the best numbers on the program was the poem which Frank Waples recited. Frank says that he and Miss King wrote it, but neither of them seem anxious about taking credit for the authorship.

Reminiscences of the Assembly Hall in a village near the city, Near the City of Chicago, Stands a great and glorious High School

Downers Grove—how we all love it! We remember how we entered, Very meek with upper classmen, Great big monsters they all looked like,

Wandering through the different hallways, Passing to and from their classes.

In those days the new assembly missed a lot of monkey business As we feared a little nonsense Might be harmful to the building. So it was that peace and quiet Reigned within the halls of learning For a short half year or longer Till the room had lost its newness.

Then dear Hebe came among us, Result of many hard earned pennies Which were gathered up one Xmas From the pupils who were present. Now she stands so grand and stately, Faithfully she watches o'er us, Seeing all the misdeeds That escape the wary teacher. In her hand a cup she's holding, Always ready for our tokens. Bottles, apple cores and paper, All these are bestowed upon her, All are graciously accepted.

In the side rooms off the platform Could be found unique articles, Stoves and wafers, sheets music, Costumes, several planks of lumber, Furniture of all description. Things too numerous to mention. These were useful to the students When retiring there for study After several hours of labor And desiring relaxation, Some would doll up in these costumes, Others down the planks would slide, Camouflaging the White City.

I've been thinking of the battles, Thinking of the great war parties, How we got our ammunition, Robbed the fruit jars of their rubbers, Stole them from our mothers' cupboards.

Ah, no more such thrilling battles Can be had in the assembly, Gone are paper wads and rubbers, Taken from us were our weapons.

For one morning in assembly

As we all sat in our places, Noble Chief arose before us, Towered above us on the platform. Thus he spoke with voice majestic As the sound of far off waters: "I am weary of this nonsense, Weary of this tragic practice, Therefore, cut it out henceforward, And hereafter, tend to business!"

Then into the flames the students Threw their hoarded ammunition, Threw their paper wads and rubbers; Gave up all this foolish practice, Settled down to dig and study.

Now there reigneth such a quiet Some indulge in peaceful slumber, No more fear of being aimed at By some enemy's machine gun. So, we leave the Old Assembly, Leave it unto you, the Juniors, To your care and your protection, In the year that lies before you.

Senior: "Miss Fisher, what material is the best for making magnets?" Physics teacher, "O, steel, by all means, steel."

Senior: "But I didn't steal that question; I made it up myself."

After writing this weekly or "weekly" piece of misery, we gaily said goodbye to solid geometry, physics, and other scholastic tortures and started out for the rural districts. Take it from us, folks, hereafter we follow agricultural pursuits. We hope the "staff (so-called) will run the column better than we did

AT BAKER'S LIVERY The Case Tractors and the Famous Moline line of Farm Implements for Every Farm. Never in the history of the world has agriculture occupied a more prominent position among industries than it does today. While the world war is claiming the attention of nearly all the nations, the whole world is looking to the farmer. It has been predicted that the single item of food may be the determining factor in winning the war. This has a tremendous significance to the American farmer. Today all countries are looking to the United States to feed the world. What does this all mean? It means the greatest agricultural opportunity of centuries lies before the farmer. New lands must be opened. There must be more intensive cultivation. Every useful implement should be bought and put to work. For every bit of food is needed and more especially in these times of war. A Case Tractor or a Moline farm implement for every farm; whatever size your farm there is a Case Tractor or Moline farm implement built to fit your needs. Whether you choose a Case 9-18, 10-20, 11-25, 20-40, 30-60 or the Moline two wheel tractor that can be hitched on every machine on your farm, you can rely upon it being the best made, built to give service season after season. In no place are these Case Tractors or Moline farm implements skimped, only the best materials are used in every part. In buying a tractor or farm implement, consider the reputation of the maker, his record in the business and the number of customers satisfactorily using that machine. The Case Tractor is the pioneer in the tractor industry. I shall gladly show you why a Case or Moline product is the most practical investment you can make. JOS. V. DIETER, Agent. Tel. 56-R.
