MANY THRILLS IN CASTLE PICTURE

In addition to an interest-holding story of high finance and society and the beautiful clothes worn by the star, "Vengeance is Mine," one of the Irene Castle series of big five reels scheduled at the Curtiss Theatre, June 6, offers some of the best thrills yet seen in the Castle pictures which are proving very popular.

Probably the most daring feats yet accomplished by Mrs. Castle in making her Pathe features are shown in this picture.

To prove her father's innocence of a crime of which he was accused by unscrupulous financiers, she goes under an assumed name to the home of the man who ruined him. His daughter whom the heroine knew at school loses her paddle and her canoe is carried down the stream and over the dam. In these scenes Mrs. Castle dives thirty feet into the rapids near Boomton, N. J. and rescues Helene Chadyck who plays the other role. The pool in which she does this is said by the natives to be bottomless. She wanted to dive from a bridge forty feet high but her director would not allow her to take such a chance.

Later she scales the wall of an apartment building at Riverside Drive and 119th Street on a rope ladder less than a foot wide. This building is twelve stories high and Mrs. Castle goes over the roof, down to a window in a house across the court and many feet below, and later returns the same way she came.

These are but a few of the daring things this amazing young woman does in the picture with all the charm and grace that made her "the best-known, best-dressed woman in America."

Mail For Prisoners Goes Free From All Postal Duties

American prisoners of war in Germany are entitled to receive and send letters, money orders, and valuables, and parcel-post packages weighing not more than 11 pounds, when intended for international mail, free from all postal duties.

Mail should be addressed to the prisoner of war, giving his rank, the name of the prison camp where he is held, if it is known, followed by "Prisoner of War Mail, via New York." All such mail should also bear the name and address of the sender.

Parcel-post packages for prisoners of war in enemy countries may not be sent by organizations or societies and only one package a month may be sent. If more are received the one apparently from the prisoner's next of kin will be forwarded and the others held in New York pending communication with the senders, with whose consent such excess packages may be sent to other prisoners of war who had received no packages during that month. Lacking this consent, the packages will be returned to the senders.

Only the following articles may be included in the packages: Belts not made of leather; hair, hand, tooth shaving, and shoe brushes; buttons; hard candy; cigars and cigarettes; combs; crackers and biscuits; gloves; not made of leather; handkerchiefs; pocket knives; needles and thread; pencils and pens; penholders; pins; pipes; safety razors and blades; shaving soap, powder, or cream; shirts and scarfs; shoe laces; smoking or chewing tobacco; toilet soap; socks; sweaters; tooth powder; paste or liquid mouth wash; towels; underwear; personal photographs; periodicals published prior to the beginning of the war.

Letters and packages will be subject to careful censorship.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO IN THE REPORTER

(From the issue of June 4, 1896.)

In the first local baseball game of the season played on the north side grounds Decoration Day Grassdale was defeated by the score of 8 to 6.

In the fifth with two men out, Piper hit a long fly, which was caught in fine style by our veteran left fielder, Will Blodgett after a long run, making the star play of the day.

The local line up was as follows: E. Graves 2nd base; E. Smith, catcher; W. R. Wells, 3rd base; Sam Smith, center field; S. Yahres, short stop; H. M. Bateman, pitcher; W. H. Blodgett, left field; E. H. Huntington, first base; S. A. Lyman, right field; J. W. Graves, pitcher. (We would like to have seen this crowd play ball for in their day they had quite a reputation.)

Mrs. G. H. Bunge and Miss Clara Mason left Thursday for a visit with relatives at Wallace, Neb.

Elroy Marshal was relieved of his gold watch by pickpockets at Lincoln Park Sunday. The watch was the gift of his grandfather, Wm. Griffiths and was highly prized by the owner as a keepsake.

Chas. Cplwell and Harry Bolderbuck returned Monday evening from St. Louis, where they had been to view the wreck left by the recent tornado. The newspaper accounts they say, have not exaggerated the horrors of the scene.

Maj. Ed Blodgett of Chicago spent Decoration Day in Downers with his brother, C. B. Blodgett.

W. F. Farrar is an honest, upright and industrious man. He is also a hearty enemy of strong drink. No one ever saw him drink anything harder than cherry phosphate. Yet in view of his actions last Sunday evening some will doubt this statement. There was nothing in his appearance to indicate that anything serious was weighing on his mind, but there was—there must have been. He was attending to his usual duties—lighting the lamps along Main street—and had reached the light at Klein's meat market, which he carefully attended to. The next stop should have been at Thompson's corner, but right here is where his actions aroused the interest of the bystanders. He had gravely placed his ladder against Carpenter's sign post, mounted to the top, and was about to apply his torch to the mortar and pestle which surmounts the post, when Mr. Carpenter interposed in time to rescue the symbol of the apothecary from the torch of the incendiary. At this juncture Mr. Farrar awoke from his trance and realizing his embarrassing mistake, lost no time in disappearing from the scene, and resuming his duties at the outskirts of the village. The question is: Who hypnotized Farrar? (To appreciate this substitute Morris shoe store for Klein; Zindt's for Carpenter's and Emrich Bros. for Thompson.)

Military Service Paths. Every man in the United States army takes the federal oath at the time of his enlistment. Members of the National Guard take what is known as the dual oath, which covers both state and federal service.

SPEAKING OF GALLANT DEEDS

Official army communique are not written to cause thrills. They are important, but dry, generally speaking. But read this from General Pershing, in France—a mere recital of facts of the day's events—and then find a romancer who can match it with words or imagination:

"American aviators were waiting at one of our large aviation fields for the commanding general of the French Army, who was coming to confer decorations," says the American Commander. Among those waiting to be decorated was Capt. David Mack Peterson. The communique goes on:

"While waiting for the ceremony to commence, Capt. Peterson made an ascent and brought down two hostile planes. The planes were sighted by Capt. Peterson, flying at 4,000 meters in single file toward our lines. Capt. Peterson swung in behind them at 5,200 meters and attacked the rear plane, firing 50 rounds. The hostile plane dove vertically 500 meters and broke into flames and fell. Capt. Peterson was meanwhile attacked by the second plane from the front. He again attacked from above, firing 75 rounds. The hostile plane threw out a cloud of smoke and attempted a sharp turn, but slipped. The wings folded up and one fell off as the plane fell.

"After the hostile planes were brought down the ceremony proceeded before a guard of honor composed of one Infantry company, one French Infantry company, and a band."

Can you beat it?

WHAT SHALL GEORGE DO?

Many people have found themselves too short to get into the United States Army, either as volunteers, or by the draft route. It is seldom that a citizen is encountered who is so long that the government doesn't know what to do with him after it gets him. But consider the case of George Bell.

George is a young man of color, whose stopping place if not his home, used to be New York. But George failed to register (though how he thought he could escape in the light of what is told hereafter passes belief) so he was picked up and sent to Camp Upton. Once there George's troubles ended, and those of the officers began, because George is 7 feet 11 inches high and weighs 351 pounds.

No uniform in stock will fit George no trench in France is deep enough to hide him, if he stands up. Query for the officers: Is George worth the expense of tailor-made clothes and hand-made shoes; shall all the trenches be deepened or shall George be cut down to fit them?

Another query: Can George, considering his color, be called the Army's white elephant?

Both Were Satisfied. A Missouri livery stable keeper put his hand in a mule's mouth to see how many teeth the mule had. The mule closed his mouth to see how many fingers the man had, and the curiosity of both man and mule was satisfied.
