Weekly War News Digest

Stories of Activities and Conditions Throughout the United States and on the Battle Fronts, Compiled for Newspapers by the Committee on Public Information at Washington, D. C.

American and German Finances
Pessimistic Americans who view with alarm our increasing national obligations may derive a great deal of comfort from a comparison of the financial condition of the United States contrasted with that of Germany.

The total resources of the United States are estimated at about $250,000,000,000; our annual earnings are estimated at about $50,000,000,000. Our national debt, including the third liberty loan, may be put around $12,600,000,000.

Before the war our Government was spending about $1,000,000,000 a year. When the war is ended, interest charges, less the interest collected from our loans to our allies, Government insurance expenses, and other necessary expenditures growing out of the war may conservatively be estimated at something like 1,000,000,000. We are confronted, therefore, when peace comes, with raising only a couple of billions a year revenue, a slight task for a Nation of such tremendous wealth, capacity and resources.

The resources of Germany before the war were estimated to be $80,000,000,000. Her annual expenditures then of the Imperial Government were about $800,000,000. Her debt now is $30,000,000,000, and her resources and man power have been severely impaired. After the war she is confronted with additional expenditures growing out of the war totaling some 4,000,000,000.

The interest of her war debt, even if the debt grows no larger, will be about $1,500,000,000. Although she is niggardly in her pensions to private soldiers and their families, $1,000,000,000 a year would hardly suffice to pay even small pensions to her injured and the families of her soldiers who have been killed. Her war debt must be paid some time and a sinking fund of 5 per cent would add $1,000,000,000 to her annual taxation. Here is a total increase of $4,000,000,000 all due to the war.

Of course both the United States and Germany may greatly increase their debts, but the increases will not change the relative situations.

The German Government has drained the German people of their gold, even their jewels and heirlooms, and yet the Imperial Bank of Germany now has but little over $500,000,000 of gold in its vaults. The United States has made no special effort to obtain gold, has made no call upon the people for the precious metal, and yet to day has in its Treasury vaults, practically $2,500,000,000 of gold coin and bullion.

Combined Effort.

The great artist who paints a picture which compels the admiration of the world does not do so with one sweep of the brush in one moment of inspiration. The great masterpiece is the product of thousands of strokes of the brush, of infinitesimal bits of pigment put on the canvas layer after layer, each done with consummate art. Every tiny bit of paint, every swift stroke does its tiny part toward what becomes at last a marvel of ages. So must we work, stroke by stroke, a bit here and a bit there, until our masterpiece has been completed.

BEEF REGULATIONS FOR PUBLIC EATING PLACES

For the convenience of public eating places the regulations in regard to the serving of beef have been modified and new regulations are as follows:

Beef in any form and in more than one form, if desired, may be served by public eating places on Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday between the hours of 10:30 a. m. and 5 p. m., and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday between the hours of 5 p. m. and 9 p. m. Left over beef must not be served outside of the prescribed hours, but should be held over until the following day.

There is no restriction whatever on the serving of the following by-products: Heads, tongues, tails, livers, hearts, tripe, feet, humped beef, pot-roast, beef hash, chili con carne, beef trimmings, frankfurter sausage, bologna sausage.

These regulations will be strictly enforced until further notice and you will, therefore, be expected to observe them carefully. Report all violations observed by you to this office, with as full information as possible, preferably in writing.

UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION, ILLINOIS DIVISION, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago.

ICE CONSERVATION URGED

Householders Told How to Economize on Ice.

With the approach of hot weather, conservation of ice is urged upon householders by the United States Food Administration. As the use of ice by the household is of such assistance in preserving food and administering comfort during the summer weather, every effort is being made to see that all families receive a sufficient supply, but extravagant and unnecessary consumption is being discouraged.

The Food Administration has therefore issued the following suggestions for ice conservation by householders: Put ice in the refrigerator as soon as it is delivered.

Keep the refrigerator in a cool place. See that refrigerator doors fit tight and are kept closed tight.

Do not open refrigerator doors more often than necessary. Every time they are opened the cold air pours out and the warm air that takes its place is cooled at the expense of ice.

Do not put warm food in refrigerator. Let it first cool to the temperature of the atmosphere.

See that the trap through which the meltage passes out at the bottom of the refrigerator is kept in place. This trap is liable to become lost or broken, in which case a constant stream of warm air will flow into the refrigerator.

Ice should not be used in serving fruit and sea food. Served direct from the refrigerator, they are cold enough.

Do not put more ice than is necessary into glasses of water, tea and other drinks. A bottle of water kept in the refrigerator will answer all requirements for cool drinking water.

Avoid detaining the ice delivery man; owing to the scarcity of help he is probably serving a larger route than ever this year. Co-operation on the part of the householder in this respect will enable him to cover a greater territory and release labor for other essential purposes.
