

IN AND AROUND THE HIGH SCHOOL

GALLEY —12—

Is it true that the animal and vegetable kingdoms are so closely united? When the zoology class was on its last field trip, one enterprising investigator found a cucumber, and began to examine it under a magnifying glass to locate its feelers.

The Freshmen are so foolish that they laugh at everything, even in class room, they laugh if one drops a pin.

Pupil: "A choo!"

Teacher: "Who did that?"

Pupil: "I just sneezed."

Teacher: "Oh, I didn't know you sneezed like that." Perhaps the time is coming when we shall have to register a sample of our sneeze along with our vaccination certificate.

We met Glen Elynn last Friday afternoon, with a score of 13-21, in our favor. The men bringing in the points were Grummy, Rich and Winston.

From the increased number of white sweaters appearing, we have come to the conclusion that some firm is giving them away as samples.

I have thought and thought

With all my might,

But I can't think

Of a thing to write. (Clever, isn't it?)

Leroy Phelps wants to know who put his name in the paper. Who'll mess up? Raymond Wales, too, is curious.

One of the mathematic classes, we hear, is soon going to have an athletic exhibition.

How would one say "Farmerette" in Latin?

Teacher: "What is the opposite of extension?"

Pupil: "Extraction."

When Doctor Worsley said that ice cream and lemonade made a good diet for an influenza victim, everyone began to look for a symptom.

Universal occupation Monday morning—thinking up an item for this column.

The Freshies and the Juniors and the Seniors,

They're a fright!

What's the matter with the Sophies

Why they're all right!

Usually it is boys that are interested in snakes, but Miss Fisher has requested that some be brought to her.

Cassy Lounsbury and Leo Rogers were visitors at the high school this week.

How to become eligible for Membership in the Mum 24.

Never study when you feel well,

Or have something else to do,

Never study when you're happy,

For that will make you blue,

Never study in the day-time,

Never study in the night,

But study at all other times

With all your main and might.

Why is a slacker like a custard pie? They are both yellow all the way thru and neither has crust enough to go over the top.

Well, we won, didn't we? Riverside next.

Doctor Worsley advised that the rooms be well ventilated, as that would be a menace to the "flu" germ. As a result—B-r-r-r-r-r!

Friday, Miss Swanson announced that we would begin the war on Tuesday. What Next?

Friday's casualties: Seriously wounded, Glen Elynn's Feelings. Slightly wounded, Paul Vaughan's Nose. Degree Undetermined, Harold Grumhaus

By coming to our high school you may secure the services of a Butler or a Gardiner. Should you wish to go for a Roe in the Woods, we could also accommodate you. Or would you prefer to Wander through the Bush to see how Rice grows?

He opened the door and influenza.

At last we've gained a victory, And the hopes come to me That the next victory we gain Will be across the sea.

Our High School beat Glen Elynn And ran the score up high, And we're going to beat the Germans Before much time goes by.

Won't someone please say something or do something. Some of us have about reached our limit.

Last week with Glen Elynn We did not meet defeat. Then what did we do? We beat, beat, beat.

GALLEY —13—

History Teacher: "Why did Lief the Lucky come to America?"

Pupil, probably thinking of the great war: "To plunder the churches and steal the gold."

One thing more that the sewing classes are asked to conserve, and that is furniture.

In one class the teacher told the pupils that it was not necessary for them to rise to shine.

Can you believe it? People are not the only things that can look solemn.

Next time you find a grasshopper, pick him up and look him in the eye. See what his expression is. He will probably appear very solemn. That's true, for zoology says so.

A pupil in the typewriting class became disgusted because she could not get a perfect copy. Her complaint was, "I step on the wrong key every time."

Senior: "Say, I saw a cat commit suicide the other day."

Freshie: "How?"

Senior: "It stuck the end of its tail in its mouth and said, 'This is the end of me.'"

Freshie: "Huh?"

Remember the twelfth at Riverside.

Repeat this rapidly: "If equals be added to equals the sums are equal."

Now, does it sound like the word "beatitudes" to you? Well, some people have a peculiar hearing apparatus.

Freshmen, Beware! Do not let any more of the upper classmen hear you say that you have not yet been initiated.

One Senior smiled last Friday,

Two Juniors cried last Friday,

Three Sophomores spied last Friday

Four wee Freshman going to the game.

Gym instructor, of Freshmen girls,

"What have you played in basket ball?" The little girl "I used to play back stop."

Miss Swanson asked what B. C. stood for.

Of her class that seemed a bright,

"Before Christ," was the an-

And of course that was all right.

It was then Miss Swanson asked us,

"What does A. D. Mean?"

"After death," said one bright student.

And really, so 'twould seem.

The Freshmen in our high school,

They are so very small,

If ever they get to be Seniors,

We wonder, will they be tall?

No, children, just because Hebe holds that dish out, she isn't looking for contributions.

The Sophies and the Seniors are good little boys

For they always play with their own little toys.

But the hard hearted Juniors are bad little boys,

For they constantly use the Freshies for toys.

Be sure to come to the Downers Riverside game at Riverside, the 12th.

Where are the boys, I wonder, tonight,

Who have gone from our high school these years?

They are bravely facing the problems of life,

So give them all three cheers.

Some in the trenches are fighting,

Bravely facing the Hun,

Some to their duties responding

Here, 'stead of there with a gun.

One of our boys has given his life

For the cause we all hold dear,

And long will his memory be present

In our high school year after year.

A Senior to a Freshie who appeared for the first time in long trousers,

"How long have you been wearing them?" The Freshie, with great complacency, "Thirty-two inches."

If you want to see the Yankee win this battle overseas,

Just chip in and give them money, and help to victory.

The boys are giving their lives for you, to keep Old Glory waving,

So show them all that you're true blue, and help the boys by saving.

The patriotic grades sing the Star Spangled Banner so often that seats will soon be unnecessary in the High School. The sixth period classes already does most of its work while standing.

How we Freshie girls wish that our boys could dance,

So that on social nights we with them could prance.

The Juniors and the Seniors they think they are it,

While along the walls we have to sit.

So get busy boys, and learn out of school,

There's a class once a week, outside, as a rule.

A Sophomore declares that all the Helvetician citizens were divided into four parts. Allow us to extend our sympathy.

The sewing class is certainly looking for a high place on the honor roll of conservation. We hear that one member is experimenting with the possibilities of sewing without thread. Let us know how it comes out.

A gift of inestimable value has come to the high school and now hangs on the west wall of the assembly hall.

This gift is the picture of the woman who took a more active interest in the school of our village, and who is more greatly revered by the pupils than any other one woman, Mrs. Mary Burns.

The picture of Mrs. Burns was enlarged, framed, and presented to us, and we, the pupils of the high school, are very grateful to the board for it.

Mr. Butler in a most impressive manner spoke to the high school on the work of Mrs. Burns and the happy associations he had with her while she was a member of the school board. He said that whatever came up in the board meetings Mrs. Burns always had the best interests of the pupils at heart, and he felt that the pupils of the Downers Grove schools had lost a true friend in the passing away of Mrs. Burns.

We Freshies think this high school life

Is nothing but a dream.

The Sophies are not quite so smart

As Sophies really seem.

The Juniors' minds are not on work,

But centered on the tram;

While Seniors strut along the halls,

And think they are supreme.

WHAT UNCLE SAM DOES WITH MONEY

How Funds Raised by Sale of Liberty Loan Bonds Is Expended by Government.

FIGURES ARE STAGGERING

Estimated Total of $24,000,000,000 Will Be Spent This Year for Preparation and Maintenance of Our Fighting Forces.

Now that the people of the United States are to be asked in the Fourth Liberty Loan drive, which opens September 28 and continues three weeks, to lend the government at least twice as much money as has been asked before, the treasury department realizes that there is a natural curiosity on the part of the public to know for what all this money is being expended. The amount already spent on preparation and the maintenance of the fighting forces staggers the imagination, and the prospect is for an even larger expenditure in the present fiscal year, the total being estimated at $24,000,000,000.

Figures received at Liberty Loan headquarters for the Seventh Reserve district from the war department give an idea of the vast sums which have been expended and which will have to be spent to win the war, and this information brings home to all Americans a concrete idea of how much money it takes to wage a modern war and how our money is being used to win victory.

The following figures are an answer to the query of the average Liberty Bond buyer: "Just what will Uncle Sam do with the money from my $50 bond? A single bond does not go far toward meeting the expense of war. It is pointed out, but when the bonds of millions of Americans are brought together, the total of cash provided reaches stupendous totals.

Since the United States entered the war in April, 1917, the war department has raised, equipped, trained and, with naval help, sent across the sea upward of a million and half of soldiers, and has practically as many more under training at home. Of all this vast number of men sent abroad, the number lost in transit as a result of U-boat attacks up to September 1, 1918, was less than 500.

During this same time 2,000,000 rifles have been made, inspected, assembled and issued, and the weekly production is growing.

The total amount of money directly appropriated by congress for the ordnance program, for which authorization has been given to incur obligations, amounts to approximately $12,000,000,000.

From the beginning of the war to June 30, 1918, the last day of the past fiscal year, contracts were placed by the ordnance department from appropriations and authorizations existing at that time amounting to $4,300,000,000. It is now estimated that during the present fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, the actual cash expenditures for ordnance will reach a total of $7,000,000,000.

The major items for which cash expenditures were made or for which contracts were placed up to June 30, 1918, were as follows:

Artillery	$1,050,000,000
Automatic rifles	300,000,000
Small arms	300,000,000
Artillery ammunition	2,550,000,000
Small arms ammunition	360,000,000
Small arms ammunition practice	60,000,000
Stores and supplies (personal horse and organization)	250,000,000
Armored motor cars	100,000,000
	$4,100,000,000

The principal items for which congress has made appropriations available for the present fiscal year are as follows:

Artillery	$1,250,000,000
Automatic rifles	500,000,000
Small arms	500,000,000
Artillery ammunition	2,550,000,000
Small arms ammunition	365,000,000
Small arms ammunition practice	150,000,000
Stores and supplies (personal horse and organization, etc.)	445,000,000
Armored motor cars	277,000,000
For army purposes, contract authorization	500,000,000
Purpose not definitely designated	87,017,000,000
	$7,017,000,000
