ADDRESSES AND MILITARY RANK OF OUR BOYS IN SERVICE AT THE FRONT AND IN TRAINING

LIST NOT COMPLETE.

You haven't written to the boy you used to know so well before he put on the khaki of the army or the blue of the navy and went to fight your fight. Look through this list and see if his name is there. If it is write to him. If it is not in the list get in touch with someone who knows where he is. Get his address and then write to him and after you have done that send his address to the Reporter that it may be added to the list and some one else be enabled to write to him. The list which will be repeated in several issues of the Reporter is the best and most correct list of Our Boys present whereabouts which we have been able to compile. There may be mistakes in it. The boys are moving fast now and an address of a week ago may be miles from the present location of the soldier lad. Then, too he may have stepped up in the rank. The Reporter wants to have an absolutely correct list of the home boys in the service of their country. I. you see a mistake in name, rank or address call our attention to it that it may be corrected before the next issue. This is only a list in part, some one hundred and fifty out of more than two hundred and fifty and you are earnestly requested to help fill out the list.

What of the H. C. of L? You cannot play with dollars unless you are an idiot. No dollars can put into your mind any thought worth while that was not there before, and good thoughts are the real wealth—Washington Times.

Force of Compressed Air. The effects of air resistance are well known in the twelve and one-half mile Stimpson tunnel, where an exceptionally high amount of energy is required for running the electric trains. The tunnel, which is fifteen feet wide and eighteen feet high, with a sectional area of two hundred and fifty square feet, has a ventilating current of 3,500 cubic feet of air per second, maintained by two large blast fans at the Brig end and two exhaust fans at Iselle. Trains going with this current encounter less resistance than in open air up to fifteen and a half miles an hour, but at higher speeds or in the opposite direction the resistance is much greater than outside. Coasting by gravity down the seven per one thousand maximum gradient, a train, even going with the current, cannot exceed thirty-five miles per hour on account of the braking by the air.

Waterfowl Pond. Many a city or village boy scout who makes an occasional trip into the country and has an enjoyable experience at some pond side, regrets that he lives so far from that pond. It may not have occurred to him that he can make a miniature pond in his back yard in the city, says Edward F. Bigelow, in Boys' Life. Sometime ago I was talking with the owner of an estate on which was a lake exclusively for his graceful but expensive waterfowl. In the course of our conversation he said: "Many persons come here professing admiration for my lake or waterfowl. They tell me that they love such things, but they are not sincere. What they are admiring is the wealth that enables me to have this extensive equipment. But I began in a small way, and anyone who really loves waterfowl and has a little back yard can have at least a mother duck and a brood of ducklings." He summed up his philosophic advice with this remark: "If you cannot get a lake with waterfowl, get a tub and a goose."
