SUGAR SHOWED OUR BACKBONE

American Willingness to Give Up Luxury Demonstrated Nation's War Conscience.

STAND WITH THE ALLIES.

By Reducing Consumption People of the United States Averted a Famine at Home in Spite of Low Supplies.

The fact that the people of the United States were able to reduce by more than one-half million tons their July, August, September and October consumption of sugar proves conclusively that their war conscience was thoroughly awakened and that the country as a whole stood ready to follow the injunctions of the Government.

Our normal consumption of sugar in the four-month period beginning with July has been 400,000 tons per month, a total of 1,600,000 for the quarter year. In July, when our sugar stringency began to reach its height, consumption was reduced to 290,000 tons.

If the general public had failed to observe the injunctions of the Food Administration this country would have been in the throes of a sugar famine before the end of August. Our visible supplies were so low as to bring great anxiety to those familiar with the sugar situation.

Few accomplishments of the Food Administration will stand forth so prominently as this reduced consumption of sugar. By it we have been able to bridge over the period of stringency until the new beet and Louisiana cane sugar crops were in sight.

HORRORS OF WAR SHOWN IN DOROTHY DALTON'S NEWEST PICTURE, "VIVE LA FRANCE!"

At the Dicke Theatre, Sat. Nov. 3d. Jenevieve Bouchette, leading woman of the Beau-Arts Film Studio in New York, receives a letter from France informing her that her aged father, Anton and her mother, have been slain by German troops in their home in Deshon. She obtains a leave of absence and returns to France.

The French are being pressed back by the Germans and Col. Bouchier calls for volunteers to carry a message to ol. Beschard, altho it is a hard job. Jean Picard a fellow player of Jenevieve's accepts his mission. As he starts off the Germans reach Deschon and commit numerous atrocities. Jenevieve is caring for her wounded brother Henri when several German officers reach their home. One fires thru the window and kills Henri and a Lieutenant enters and tries to overpower her. She resists, whereupon he drags her to a window and shows her a stream of women with a cross painted on their bosoms. He tells her that she will suffer a similar fate if she does not accede to his demands.

Meanwhile, Jean is approaching Deshons and is wounded by a shot fired from the distance and he falls fainting against the door of the Chateau. Jenevieve has been conveyed to the same place and kills her guard and opens the door only to have Jean fall at her feet.

She instantly recognizes him and revives him. They exchange confidences and as they talk the Germans are heard returning. Jean puts on the uniform of the slain soldier and hides in another room. The Germans enter and search the house for a spy. Jenevieve stands before the door and confesses that the body of her sweet-heart lies in there. Colonel Beshard has received an important message delivered by the wounded soldier whose identity is not revealed but who is in reality Jean. As Jenevieve leaves the Chateau she is intercepted by a squad of French soldiers and placed under arrest. The document in her possession is a map of the French defenses and she is ordered shot as a spy. The order is about to be executed when the cross of shame is seen on her breast and she is released.

Months later, Jenevieve is living in Deshon. Crosses of war are to be bestowed on French soldiers and one of is Jean Ricard. The medal of honor is bestowed upon Jenevieve in behalf of Jean just as an ambulance appears upon which is seated Jean himself who has lost his memory. She turns and recognizes him, but there is no recognition in his eyes. One day he sees the cross of shame on her breast and his memory returns instantly. The two find happiness in their mutual love and their marriage follows.

THE IDLER

If you have an idle dollar It's a slacker. Take it firmly by the collar, It's a slacker. Make it battle for the nation; For a dollar on vacation In this present situation Is a slacker. —Harold Oesterreich.

W. S. & MONEY STAYS HOME.

The War Savings committee for Illinois calls attention to the fact that the amount of money received from War Savings stamps does not leave the country but comes back to the people. It is used in paying the bills due for labor in this country, and for keeping open the channels of trade, thereby furnishing labor for the individual man and woman. Thus it is seen that providing the government with a steady flow of cash enables the poorest man to do his duty and to show his patriotism in exactly the same way as people who can lead the government great sums of money, or who can go across and fight.

Court Clerk Sells $41,000 in W. S. S.

G. Edwin Mitchell, deputy clerk in the Superior court, Chicago, has sold more than $41,000 worth of War Savings stamps in the Cook County building. He is chairman of the county building committee. No other man in a similar capacity in the state has exceeded this record.

21,123 W. S. S. Societies in Illinois.

According to the latest reports from Washington there are now 21,123 War Savings societies in Illinois. This means that the state has gone over the top in this respect. The quota was 20,919. The state also has 7,900 maximum war savers, which is considerably above the quota.

Our exports since is country entered the war have justified a statement made by the Food Administration shortly after its conception, outlining the principles and policies that would govern the solution of this country's food problems. "The whole foundation of democracy," declared the Food Administration, "lies in the individual initiative of its people and their willingness to serve the interests of the nation with complete self effacement in the time of emergency. Democracy can yield to discipline, and we can solve this food problem for our own people and for the Allies in this way. To have done so will have been a greater service than our immediate objective, for we have demonstrated the righteousness of our faith and our ability to defend ourselves without being Prussianized."

GREATEST OPPORTUNITY WOMEN EVER HAD.

It was given to the women of this country to perform the greatest service in the winning of the war vouchsafed to any women in the history of the wars of the world—to feed the warriors and the war sufferers. By the arts of peace, the practice of simple, homely virtues the womanhood of a whole nation served humanity in its profoundest struggle for peace and freedom.

FIRST CALL TO FOOD ARMY. This co-operation and service I ask of all in full confidence that America will render more for flag and freedom than king ridden people surrender at gunpoint.—Herbert Hoover, August 10, 1917. A year ago voluntary food control was a daring adventure in democracy; during the year an established proof of democratic efficiency.
