Benevolence Without Ambition.

At present we behold only the rising of our sun of empire—only the fair beginnings of a great nation. We departed early—we departed at the beginning—from the beaten track of ambition. Our lot was cast in the age of revolution—a revolution which is to bring all mankind from a state of servitude to the exercise of self-government—from under the tyranny of physical force to the gentle sway of opinion, from under subjection to domination over nature.
 It was ours to lead the way—to take up the cross of republicanism and bear it before the nation, to fight its earliest triumphs, to illustrate its purifying and elevating virtues, and by our courage and resolution, our moderation and magnanimity, to cheer and sustain its future followers through the baptism of blood and martyrdom of fire. A mission so noble and beneficent demands a generous and self-denyng enthusiasm. Our greatness is to be won by benevolence without ambition.—William Henry Seward.

Nerves in Sexes Differ.

The late Professor Munsterberg of Harvard believed that the sensory mechanism of women worked quicker than that of men. He took the illustration of two sets of wires, corresponding to the nerves of the human body, conducting a current of electricity to a certain point. The wires of woman's nerves were able to communicate to the fixed point, in this case the brain, the current much more quickly than the male equipment, and, furthermore, reacted to currents too faint for man's wires to take up. The addition of these subtle stimuli produced in the receiving center an entirely different comprehension in woman than in man, Munsterberg argued.—Chicago Examiner.

Nightingale Leads Song Birds.

The sweetest singer among birds is the nightingale; then comes the linnet, the lark, the skylark and woodlark. The mocking bird has the greatest power of imitation.

LETTERS FROM DOWNERS GROVE SOLDIER BOYS

along with two letters from mother, one from Dad and one from Uncle Ed. The candy sure went fine and the cigarettes are dandy too and I felt quite big to get so much in one day.
 Well, as I said in my letter two days ago, all we are looking forward to now is the time to pack our belongings and start for home. There are an awful lot of stories going around that I don't put much stock in but I sure hope some of this dope is true. Some say we will (part of us) be home for Christmas and some say we will stay here about six months yet and work in some of the mines in Belgium and France but I don't put any faith at all in the latter. I myself do not expect to be home for Xmas but I do hope to be home a month or two after that, but I could pack up my bag and baggage in 15 minutes and be ready to start.
 I was out on liberty night before last and went down to Southampton and the streets were just crowded with people all shouting and singing and every house and store were just covered with flags and decorations. I sure would have liked to have been in Chicago when they got the news that the armistice had been signed. I bet they closed the saloons there as they did here and I wish they would keep them closed too, because I have seen plenty of what they do to men, especially over here.
 There was some shouting in camp when we heard the good news and they gave us a free rein all that day. They also gave us the band to do with as we pleased and so we got into a column and marched down to Eastleigh. We were all in our overalls and I bet it sure looked funny to a spectator of that scene. Well, we got back about two o'clock and then they gave the whole station liberty and you can take it sure did celebrate in liquid form but then they closed the saloons for a week and now every thing is going normally again.

Well, I will have to cut this short thanking you both again for the nice box you sent. I hope you are all well and believe me, I am. We have been having fine weather lately altho it is quite a bit colder but not near as much rain as we had been having. Did you get my other pictures. Here's hoping I can eat Christmas dinner at home. Loads of love to all.
 Herbert Ehninger.

ED. CZECHOWSKI SAYS "ITS COLD 12,000 FEET UP"

U. S. Air Service, Italy, Nov. 5, 1918. Mr. Staats, Dear Friend:

Its quite a while since I have written to you, but just received a couple of Reports and was just tickled to death to get them. Have a little spare-time so will write you a few lines. You probably know that I am now in Italy and I like it very much here, even better than France. We are in one of the biggest cities in Italy and there certainly is a lot of Italians celebrating the great victory, which put Austria out of the game.

This certainly is a wonderful country to see. I spent three days in Rome and two days at Lake Como, which is one of the most beautiful places in the world. It is located on the border of Italy and Switzerland and you can see the snow clad mountains. It simply can't be beat for beautiful scenery.
 They certainly are keeping us busy here, but the work is very interesting and am getting a lot of valuable experience which will come in handy in my line of work later.

I will try to give you a short description of a trip I had in the air last week. I was up about 4000 meters which is about 12,000 feet. This is the highest I have been so far. The air is far above the earth isn't so dense as close to the ground and it made it hard breathing till I got used to it. It also gets very cold up so high. The worst part of it is coming down, with the motor throttled down, and the nose of the machine pointed down fairly steep and coming down in a spiral. I suppose you know how it feels when you ride a fast elevator. Well, it feels something like that only about ten times worse. But it sure is great sport. But one thing is a fellow has to keep his head and you can't be thinking about girls or something else. The roar of the motor almost deafens you and when you get down on the ground you can hardly hear anything for two or three hours.

I have noticed in the paper that Owen Griffiths is also in Italy. I sure would like to see him, as he may be near where I am. Well, I don't want to take up too much of your time, so will close for this time, with best wishes to all of Downers Grove.
