dedicated to Him in Holy Baptism, and God will not let us go if anything He can do will bring us to our senses. He can twin us to Him by sorrow, sickness or some terrible calamity, but he prefers another way.

The Holy Season of Lent is an opportunity. It means that God, thru His Church, for forty days is going to make a special effort to make us realize that He has a special claim upon us by drawing us, body soul and spirit to the foot of the cross. God prefers to draw men by holding before them the pledges of His great love—Jesus Crucified.

You would scorn to turn our back upon the least of your friends, and yet the man who can come to church and does not, is spurning the best friend any man ever had. Every time a service is held God is giving you an opportunity to express your love for your best and truest friend — Jesus Christ.

Spring is surely here as some robins were seen last week by Mrs. Plumb and Mr. Frank Haussner.

—HELP "FINISH THE JOB."—

The war in its larger sense is not over, and our duty to support our soldiers is not over until they are all home. The Victory Liberty Loan is to be used for the purpose of maintaining them overseas as an army of occupation and bringing them back.

The Germans, not the Americans, were the quitters, but our work is not finished until we have brought the victors home. Let's finish the job by oversubscribing the Victory Liberty Loan as we did all its predecessors.

"UNDER THE TOP"

Jimmie Jones, a boy born with a laugh, lives in Three Forks and when the circus comes to that village, he becomes a warm admirer of Terry O'Neill, acrobat, and owner of the show. This admiration is second only to the love he bears beautiful little Pansy, daughter of O'Neill, and when the circus leaves town he is greatly dejected.

Years pass and when the circus again comes to town, Jimmie is earning a profitable livelihood as a house painter. By the death of her father, Pansy becomes owner of the circus with Jay Trimmer and Otto B. Shott as her guardians, two rascals who are planning to deprive her of her inheritance. They rob her and finally arrange to leave her with Lotta Crust, a retired circus performer, who has made her home at Three Forks.

Lotta has a son known as "Foxy" Stillmore, who wears flashy clothes, whose reputation is shady, and whom she plots to make Pansy's husband. Jimmie calls on Pansy frequently, but one day he is thrown out of the house by Lotta. He disguises himself as an ice-man so that he can get into conversation with her. "Foxy," meanwhile, arrives at Three Forks, and when he asks Pansy to marry him, she consents. She tells Jimmie and he agrees to help her elope, although he loves her devotedly himself.

Pansy and "Foxy" elope, but when they are gone Jimmie learns that "Foxy" is a crook. He races after and catches them as they are about to board a train and takes Pansy from "Foxy," he throwing the latter's baggage on the train as it pulls out of the station. Shott and Trimmer hear of Lotta's plot to marry Pansy to her son, and they return in great anger. They decide to take Pansy back to the circus and have her hypnotized by Professor de Como, the circus hypnotist, and then marry her to Trimmer himself, so that they may keep the circus.

They meet Pansy and Jimmie returning from the train and knocking Jimmie down, take Pansy. She is hypnotized and they employ a drunken Justice of the Peace to perform the ceremony. He demands the license and as it is produced, Jimmie, who has meanwhile followed them by stealth and after learning that Pansy will not come out of her trance until three o'clock that afternoon, seizes the document and dashes away with it.

He jumps over several timbers leaping to a horizontal bar, from there to a horse's back and then looking at his watch, finds it is two minutes to three o'clock. He then takes a somersault from a horse's back to his pursuers' law nets, and lands on a slant wire from which he catches a flash of light from the hands of the clock and lands in a net. (The audience roars and hands in air, shouting that they are the victors.) He gives himself up and the Justice of the Peace license and returns to Pansy.

As the marriage is about to proceed Pansy escapes from her trance and escapes and goes to Jim. Jimmie under the cover of the night to help her back, but Pansy herself cries, "Hey, 'Tub' who stands by Terry O'Neill's girl" with the result that the constabulary calls to her aid and Trimmer and Shott are driven away. As Jimmie and Pansy embrace a dove brings down a large time-piece that over their heads, enclosing them. Pansy laughs, looks up shyly, then buries her face on Jimmie's shoulder.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO IN THE REPORTER

From the issue of March 18, 1897.

The Rev. Bishop Seymour, of Springfield, confirmed a class of fifteen at S. Andrew's Mission last Friday evening, March 12th. Those confirmed were: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Miller, Miss Stella E. Demler, Mrs. Robert Buck, Mrs. T. Kennison, Misses Emily Jackson, Flossie Rando, Mary Heartman, Agnes Stewart, Dolly Weir Harriet Burnette, Mrs. J. G. Morton, Mrs. E. A. Smethurat, Monty Leo and Grenville Pridham.

Mrs. M. H. Bates, who has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. McNaught, returned to her home in Galesburg, Saturday.

Thomas Beckford has purchased the LeDuc property on S. Washington street, will remodel and occupy as a permanent home.

Mrs. J. D. Fowler was quite seriously burned about the face Monday evening from gasoline. Mr. Fowler had been fixing the gasoline stove and she, thinking it was finished, lighted the oven burner. An explosion followed, the flames of the gas and oil severely burning her face and singed her hair.

Died at his home here on Saturday, March 12, 1897. O. Amundson, aged 64 years.

The death of Jacob Veith, Sr., occurred at his home near Laco, Sunday evening, March 14, 1897. He was 93 years of age and one of the oldest settlers of the county.

Philip Binder's new residence on Curtiss street, near Carpenters, is rapidly nearing completion and adds materially to that thoroughfare's residence structures.

Architects are busy preparing plans and specifications for a modern three-story and basement building to be erected by John Oldfield on his property at the corner of Main and Curtiss Sts. Work on the excavation for the basement will begin soon.

Morse inventor of the Telegraph.
Samuel F. B. Morse, inventor of the electric telegraph, was a literary man and an artist before he became one of the world's greatest inventors. He was a graduate of Yale college and had qualifications for authorship that would have won success if he had turned his attention in that direction. Then he took up art and studied under the great Benjamin West, in England, and painted portraits for a few years and was the first president of the Academy of Design in New York. But he did not develop his true genius until he took up electricity and invented the telegraph.

REMAKING OF SOLDIER'S FACES HER ART

A true artist with art more constructive than any other employed in the great war, is the description which best fits the American woman, Mrs. Maynard Ladd, who has just returned to her home in Boston. Mrs. Ladd's art is "Remaking of soldiers' mutilated faces." The masks were made of electrically deposit copper and tinted to a real flesh coloring.
