FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. J. B. Little, Pastor. Sunday is to be a Memorial Day with us, "Giving Honor to Whom Honor is Due." The Morning Services in Sunday School and Church will be in honor of our Mothers. Mother's Day this year should be more generally observed than ever before, because the thought of the world has been centered upon mothers as never before, especially the Military World, those who heard the call of their country and went out to face death and win freedom. A son was asked by his mother "How he was able to endure the struggle, and face the enemy so bravely." His reply was, "Mother, I thought of you." Let every one come and give honor to their mother. The Evening Service will be in honor of all who have served their country on land, sea and in the air. To which everybody is invited. A special program is being prepared which promises to be interesting and helpful. Mr. W. B. Towaley will give the address of welcome to our returning enlisted men. Our Junior Choir assisted by Dr. LeBlanc will sing the Marsellaise in the original tongue.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Brokemyer, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Oldfield is busy training the school children for an entertainment to be given in the near future.

Mrs. Walter Plumb is suffering from badly sprained and bruised foot the result of a fall.

The Lisle School Directors sold Victory Bonds to the amount of $14,200.

Betty Blankenburg, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Blankenburg of Belmont, passed away Friday morning at the age of nine months. Little Betty leaves to mourn her departure besides her father and mother, four brothers and a sister. Funeral services were conducted at the home by Rev. Anderson of Lisle, Sunday afternoon and interment was made in the West Side Cemetery.

Got Fat on Poor Food. A recruit at one of the southern camps wrote a long letter home, which he started by telling how rotten the food was, and that he didn't get enough to eat. Near the end of the letter, about page fifteen, he told the folks how fat he was getting, having gained ten pounds in about a month.

BERMUDA GRASS IS VALUABLE AS FEED

Troublesome Weed Makes Good as Sod and Pasture.

Susceptibility of Root-Stocks to Winterkilling and Its Inability to Withstand Shade Make It Easy of Eradication.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Bermuda grass is one of the most valuable as well as the most troublesome grasses of the Southern states. This vigorous growing perennial spreads rapidly, making a thick sod which is well suited for pastures and lawns. The same characteristics that make it so valuable also render it one of the principal weeds the eradication of which is essential to the successful growing of intertilled crops. The plant has certain natural weaknesses, such as its inability to withstand shade and susceptibility of the root-stocks to winterkilling, which can easily be made use of in its eradication.

The most widely practiced and successful control measures, especially in the Southwestern states, is a combined attack upon these two weak points by alternating a summer shade crop, such as velvet beans and cowpeas, with intertilled crops, such as corn and cotton, keeping the soil occupied with growing oats or rye, with or without vetch, during the winter.

Hogs are also useful in eradicating this grass. They are fond of the root-stocks, and they will be aided greatly in the good work if the land is first plowed. A good system is to graze the land an entire season, continue the grazing the following season until mid-summer, then plow shallow to expose the root-stocks to the drying action of the sun and the persistent rooting of the hogs.

Bermuda grass may be winterkilled by exposing the root-stock system to freezing, but this method is effective only in the northern part of the Bermuda grass area, as killing frosts do not ordinarily occur in the central and southern parts. In small areas, such as gardens, the root-stocks may be gathered after the land has been plowed, with a rake or fork, and burned. Where only small patches are infested they may be covered with heavy paper, preferably roofing paper, which should be weighted down. This completely shades the plants that in about two months they will be killed.

Bermuda grass was at one time looked upon solely as a pest, but in view of the fact that it is exceedingly valuable for pasture, hay and lawn purposes, the plant has been widely utilized throughout the cotton belt and its value is far in excess of the damage which it causes.

PREVENT WASHING OF SOILS

Good System of Broad-Base Terraces Is Recommended—Work Can Be Done at Any Time.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) The maintaining of soil fertility should be one of the supreme aims of every farmer. The most universal source of loss is from soil washing. Nothing will do more to prevent this loss than to establish a good system of broad-base terraces. This is in conjunction with a well-planned cropping system, will not only maintain but increase soil fertility. Terracing can be done at any time during the year when the lands are free of growing crops. In the cotton states the weather is rarely too severe during the winter to prevent this work from being done. Those who have not already terraced their farms should see the county agent and get his advice and help along this line.

Power of Imagination. To those who see only with their eyes, the distant is always indistinct and little, becoming less and less as it recedes, till utterly lost; but to the imagination, which thus reverses the perspective of the senses, the far off is great and imposing, the magnitude increasing with the distance.—Mrs. Jameson (Studies).

Cleanliness Necessary. When our daughter was six years old she was taken to see her first vaudeville performance. One number on the program was a dancer, who wore very little, and Lovia's first remark when she saw the dancer was: "Oh, mamma, but she has to wash herself clean, so much of her shows."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Don't Forget the Big Y Loan! Optimistic Thought. Simplicity of all things is the best way to be happy.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO IN THE REPORTER

From the issue of May 6th, 1897, J. A. Norpel and bride will occupy the Lindley cottage on Rogers Street this week.

E. T. Vore has moved into the house recently vacated by I. L. Cutting on the North Side.

The Episcopalians start building their church this week. H. H. Wolfersheim has the contract for the stone work.

Chas. R. Caldwell and wife will return from their visit to California next week. They will be accompanied by Miss Fannie Gilbert, who will make her home with Grandma Lyons here.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Ladies' Library Association was held in the Library room Tuesday afternoon. For the coming year the following ladies will officiate: Mrs. E. J. Miller, president; Mrs. Sacksteder, vice-president; Mrs. L. P. Naramore, secretary; and Mrs. Stanger, treasurer.

W. A. Aylesworth of Chicago, has purchased the Heckman residence property on Fairmont Avenue, and with his family moved here this week.

Gallup, F. A. Root and Levi Mertz, board of directors; Dr. W. W. Gourley, Bert C. White, M. K. Bush, house committee; Hugh M. White, L. E. Jones and George T. Knox, membership committee.

H. Paul and daughter Susan, have returned from their winter's visit at Baxter Springs, Kansas.

Miss Nora Shaw, who has been making her home here the past two years with her aunt, Mrs. Morton, returned to her former home in Wisconsin, last Tuesday.

Humor in the Classroom. Ethel, who was ten years old, was studying her reader, and learned that fish are placed in brine before they are dried and prepared for sale. After explaining that brine is very salt water, the teacher asked why the fish were placed in it. Ethel's face was illuminated with sudden understanding, and she promptly replied: "Because they are used to salt water."

Colors for Dyeing. White, very light cream, pink, blue or green can be dyed any color. Light red may be dyed a darker red, purple, plum or brown. Brown will become a darker brown by the use of crimson or garnet. A dark green may be dyed a deeper shade of green, brown or black.

An Illustration. "Thought," says a philosopher, "may stay behind silent lips, but when it becomes feeling it runs to expression." We've noticed this in cases of persons who thought they were hitting a nail, but who felt they had smashed their fingers.—Boston Transcript.

PROPER FEEDING HELPS COW If Rightly Fed All Her Life Animal Will Be of Value When Old—Overfeeding Is Harmful.

If the cow has been rightly fed all her life she will be a good cow when she becomes old. A cow that has been overfed for years will have become "burned out" by the time she is ten or twelve years of age. The cow that has never been fed to bring her up to her highest capacity for milk giving will have fixed her habits of milk production at a low point and will not be valuable as an old cow. She will, therefore, have to be disposed of to the butcher several years before she would otherwise have gone out of service.
