"There is no other organized agency so powerful, so penetrative, so influential in America as the church."

Do you think this statement is any where near the truth? Then, if you are not participating in the life and activities of some one of our local churches, why not turn over a new leaf this week, and join with your fellow citizens next Sunday in the public worship of Almighty God?

The pastor and congregation of the First Congregational Church invite you to come with us and "we will do these good." Come to church next Sunday, so that you can more effectively follow the teachings of Jesus Christ in the following days of the week.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO IN THE REPORTER

From the issue of May 27, 1897.

The home of G. H. Whitney in East Grove was completely destroyed by fire last Thursday evening. The furniture was also destroyed.

Rev. and Mrs. Tremar R. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Tenney and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Alford and children attended the golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wells.

W. S. Alden and family have returned from Star City, Ind., to make their home again in Downers. They occupy their residence on Gilbert Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cole, with their daughter Clara, spent Tuesday night with her parents, on their return from Dubuque, Iowa, to their home in Ottawa.

Mrs. Gage, mother of Mrs. C. A. McCotter, left last Friday for Belding and Ionia, Mich.

Mrs. Sarah E. Tylor, wife of Joseph S. Tylor, died at the family residence on Oakwood Avenue, Tuesday afternoon, May 25th. Funeral services were held today from the Methodist Church and burial was made at the West Side Cemetery.

Philip Binder has gone to Morris, Ill., where he will be employed during the summer on building contracts.

George Moore of Albion, Iowa, visited over Sunday with his niece, Mrs. J. A. Nash and his sister, Mrs. Lawrence.

MARY PICKFORD IN "CAPTAIN KID, JR.

At the Dicke Theatre Saturday, May Thirty-first.

Mary MacTavish and her grandfather, Angus MacTavish, are canny Scots who conduct a book and curio shop. Jim Gleason, a struggling author who hopes to write the great American novel, lives with them, and incidentally, Jim loves Mary. Through an error in the delivery of a lot of books which Jim has purchased, the wrong consignee is delivered to the MacTavishes. Among these Jim finds a copy of "The Pirate's Revenge" and this is unintentionally retained after John Brent, a lawyer, explains that a mistake had been made in selling some of the effects of the late Henry Carleton, to whose millions Willie Carleton is sole heir. Brent repurchases the books and it later develops that "The Pirate's Revenge" contains instructions which will lead the possessor to a hidden treasure. Mary, Jim and Willie go in search of the treasure at Cabbage Center where they are mistaken for burglars. After considerable trouble the "treasure" is located, but this turns out to be a statement enclosed in a rust-eaten box announcing that "the richest treasure in the world is health and honest toil." Mary buys Butterfield Farm, where the "treasure" was located, for $2,000 and subsequently sells it to Willie for $20,000 for railroad purposes, and she finally finds happiness in the ardent love of Jim.

"HEARTS OF MEN"

This does not by any means imply that Mr. Beban's home life is not ideal, and that he is not devoted to Mrs. Beban and young George Beban, Jr. But the fact is that in all his career before the Cooper Hewitts, Mr. Beban has never had a screen love affair, and at last he has capitulated to the Cupid of the camera. It all happens in "Hearts of Men," the stars latest production, and the first picture in which he has appeared since leaving Paramount pictures nearly a year ago.

"Hearts of Men," which is being presented by Hiram Abrams, and which comes to the Curtiss Theatre, May 31st is also the first picture which the noted character actor has ever produced and directed entirely under his own auspices, and realizing that his artistic security was at stake, he made a tremendous effort to surpass all his previous achievements before the footlights and the camera. Advance comment on the picture indicates that he has succeeded in doing so.

"Hearts of Men" is a tender heart-interest story which breathes through the philosophy of happiness. A series of disasters change before the magic wand of faith and optimism to corresponding joys.

"Hearts of Men" is the kind of picture that makes the world look very brighter.

NEWSY NOTES FROM LISLE AND BELMONT

10:00 a. m. Sunday School. 11:00 a. m. Preaching Service. 7:45 p. m. Evening Service.

The Community Reading Room is open on Friday and Saturday evenings from 6:30 to 10 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

The entertainment given by the Lisle public school was well attended. The children did their part well. Two whistling solos were given by Rosella Porter and some very interesting addresses were given by Rev. Anderson of Lisle. Mr. Page, editor of the Orange Judd, Mr. Heaton, County Agriculturist, both of Wheaton and Prof. Bowman, County Superintendent of Schools also gave addresses.

Mr. Elmer Haumeiser of Cleveland, Ohio, is spending a vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haumeiser Sr.

The Misses Florence and Maud Wood, diletta of Chicago, visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Griffin Sunday.

Miss Alice Rehm of Naperville, visited Miss Hazel Tate Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rogers of Warwood Farm, entertained at dinner Monday evening, the Orators of the Naperville High School. Their son Carl won in the Orations so they gave a dinner. A very pleasant evening was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hatch were called to Mrs. Hatch's home at Yorkville on Saturday by the sudden death of her father, Mr. Howe. He had been mowing the lawn and came in the house and complained of not feeling well and dropped dead. Funeral was held Tuesday afternoon. The deceased was over 80 years old. Mrs. Hatch has the sympathy of the community.
