tell the people that the reason we are having these few breakdowns in the electric service now is caused by the condition I found the engines in when I took hold of the plant. ### GOVERNOR ISSUES ORDERS REGARDING MILITIA

Military and Naval Department State of Illinois General Orders No. 21. Springfield, October 6, 1919. Conditions which required the creation and maintenance of the present military forces of Illinois continue and the existence of these troops still remains a vital necessity to the State.

When the country was engaged in a world war whose duration and outcome could not be foreseen the creation of the existing forces was an emergency measure and it was consequently impossible at the time to announce any definite program either as to the future of these organizations or an approximation of the period during which their services would be required. With the end of the war, return of our soldiers, with the general policy of the reorganization of the National Guard now more or less outlined and with the general conditions affecting law and order in the state reasonably comprehended, a more definite policy than previously possible may be formulated. Therefore the following general policy will become effective immediately:

(a) The continued maintenance and active support of the existing organizations including such reasonably adequate armory facilities as may be procured, issue of clothing, arms and equipment and such plan of training and instruction as will render organizations the more efficient for the active needs of the State.

(b) Simultaneously, active steps will be taken to re-create the National Guard along organization lines looking toward the ultimate infantry division in the State.

(c) In fulfilling the plan indicated in subparagraph "b" the privilege, if desired by existing state force of entry by organization into the federalized National Guard of the State will be given, subject, of course, to a compliance with the federal regulations and to the limitations of allotment of troops to the State.

(d) The right will be accorded state organizations to be mustered out October 1, 1920. If, on this indicated date, any such organization desires to waive such muster-out, any individual member thereof whose term of enlistment extends beyond, shall have the right of discharge on said date.

The above section will not be construed as an attempt to extend the period of enlistment of any man now in the service without re-enlistment on his part.

By command of the Governor, Frank S. Dickson, The Adjutant General, Chief of Staff.
