The Old-Fashioned Revival is still in progress, services each evening at eight o'clock, Sunday at eleven a. m. The ordinance of baptism will be administered and the right hand of the church fellowship given to all new members. Communion service immediately following.

At three o'clock, Louis A. Crittenton, a business man, will speak at the Curtiss Theatre to the business men of Downers Grove and any others who may come. Mr. Crittenton is a pleasant, practical and forceful speaker. You cannot afford to miss hearing him. His subject will be "LIFE Versus THE UNDERTAKER."

At 7:30 p. m. Rev. Little will speak in the same hall on the subject of "Peace."

While these meetings are to be under the auspices of the Baptist church we should like for it to be strictly understood that it is not for them alone the aim is to cause as far as possible the entire community, churchman or non-church man, Christian and non-Christian to stop and sink of the present world condition from a business man's point of view and also from a religious prophetic viewpoint.

WHERE GREAT MONARCH LIES

Mosque of Bajazet II is One of the Sights of City of Constantinople.

Constantinople has no mosque more attractive to natives and strangers alike than that of Bajazet II. Bajazet, one time sultan of an empire, known as the dreamer, raised this graceful monument and sleeps peacefully in its shelter.

It is not, however, in reverence to the memory of Bajazet that so many Turks sit languidly in the corners of the mosque court. They are here to profit by the visits of strangers in the city, to tempt them with real Turkish tobacco, oriental perfumes, amber and jewelry. In short, they have set up shop in the very shadow of the mosque, and that shadow being insubstantial, strips of awnings have been rigged up as further protection from the glaring sun. Whether Bajazet would approve of this seeming disrespect can only be surmised.

Pigeons, too, in distracting numbers, whirling, cooing, always fluttering from one spot to another, save the mosque courtyard from the solemn silence of the thousand and one other temples of Constantinople. Bajazet's approval of the pigeons' presence is recorded from the time when only two frequented his court. By his order they and their successors have been always fed and regarded as sacred.

The feathered inhabitants have become so numerous and so much at home that the mosque has come to be popularly called the "Mosque of Pigeons." Their cooing softens the sound of bargaining from the corners of the court and blends with the splash of the fountain. Could the dreamy Bajazet behold them now, poised on his minarets, walking sedately about his court, and circling like whirling clouds about the column, he would realize that they are the final touch to the perfection of his temple.

NEWSY NOTES FROM LISLE AND BELMONT

Church Notes. Sunday School 10:00 a. m. Church Service, 11:00 a. m. Evening Service, 7:45 p. m.

The Ladies Aid Society will meet Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. Bensley.

On Friday, December 12th, the Ladies Aid will hold their bazaar in the church basement from 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Aprons and other useful and fancy articles will be for sale. Come and buy your Christmas presents. A good supper at a reasonable price will be served from 6:30 o'clock.

Sunday was a banner day for the Lisle church, thirteen new members were received into the fellowship of the church.

Mrs. George Du Moulin motored to the home of her parents at Belvidere last Tuesday and stayed over and spent Thanksgiving with them, returning home on Friday.

Clara Staley is sick at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Staley.

Henry Lauing of South Dakota, spent Thanksgiving with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Lauing.

Miss Margaret Rogers and Ross and Carl enjoyed Thanksgiving with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rogers at Warwood Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Lacey and Mr. and Mrs. J. Barnacle spent Sunday visiting friends at Riverside, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Plumb, Mrs. Richter and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. Plumb and family were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Porter for Thanksgiving.

Mr. Ferdinand Schwartz, one of the first settlers in Lisle, coming here in the Forties, in those days driving cattle from here to the Chicago market, died at his home Saturday, November 29th, at the age of 87 years. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, three sons, William, Frank and Joseph and one daughter, Hattie. The funeral was held Monday morning at the SS. Peter and Paul church at Naperville, interment being made in the Naperville cemetery. The funeral services were attended by a large number of Neighbors and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Willard and family of Naperville, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Ellsworth of Belmont, for Thanksgiving.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our thanks to relatives, friends, and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy extended during the illness and death of our loving husband and father.

The service of automobiles at the funeral was appreciated. Mrs. A. F. Pelling and Family.

WHY LAMB AND MINT SAUCE

English Writer Goes Far Back to Trace Custom So Popular in That Country.

Lamb is the only meat with which mint sauce is partaken, and England is the only country where the custom is practiced.

The latter fact seems to disprove the idea that it originated with the Jews, else it would have been adopted in other countries where the race predominates to an even greater extent than in our own. Hence, also, it could not have originated or been associated with the "bitter herbs" which were eaten with the Paschal lamb.

When one remembers what are the vegetables usually eaten with lamb, we get a clue to mint sauce. And it is one that leads us to what is probably the true reason of its combination with lamb. New potatoes and green peas are the adjuncts immemorial time has led us to associate with the flesh of the lamb. These, our forbears decided, were provocative of indigestion, and therefore an adjunct must be introduced to correct this tendency.

Mint during all ages has been associated with such an office. The Latin poets have broken into song regarding its merits, and the giver of a feast never thought of laying the meat on the table until the boards had been scoured with this herb. So, in addition to being a corrective, mint had a reputation as an appetizer. Gerarde says, "The smell of mint doth stir up the mind and the taste to a greedy desire of meat."—London Tit-Bits.

WONDERFUL ANIMAL, THE GNU

And Voice Would Seem to Be Not the Least of His Remarkable Qualities.

Few people know what a satisfactory animal is the gnu. Quite a number of hoofed animals, like the deer and the sacred ox, are mere fessone combinations of burbankism, but the gnu has qualities all his own. His head is homely as an unpainted barn—flat nose and very broad mouth and ears misshapen and uncouth. His body is that of an exceedingly powerful pony, with strong neck and thick tail. His galeatic energy puts to shame the glorious abandon of a cat on a tin roof.

When I arrive before his inclosure he usually retreats to the shed in which he sleeps and stands in the doorway with far-away eyes. Efforts to entice him forth are futile. I turn at last as if to go, and as I move he bursts forth with the most heathenish cry that ever clattered from an animal throat. If it resembles anything, it is the trench klaxon that warns of an impending gas attack—a series of staccato shrieks which would shake the teeth from a band saw. I don't see how he can stand the noise he makes. Arm a rabbit with the voice of a gnu and lions will slink from his path.

Reaching the bars of his inclosure he, three or four astounding leaps, the wide apart, ignoring me literally. When I move to right or left he remains motionless until 15 feet are between us; then he closes the distance with a hoarse shriek, terribly twice of thrice, and once more affects to be utterly oblivious of my presence. When finally I leave him the clatter of his fearful voice pursues me for hundreds of feet, drowning all other sounds.—Atlantic Monthly.

KEEP UP THE MORALE

The big thing in life's battles is the morale. You may have the men and the guns, but if the men lack the ginger they are impediments to attainment. It is easy to do things when you are on the winning side. The trouble begins to brew when things go wrong. Anybody can go with the current. It's breasting the tide that shows where strength lies, and muscular strength is the least side of it. When the brain is right and nerve control dependable you can make machines do muscular tasks. There are few things that man's ingenuity has not submitted to mechanical control. So the problem of today is to keep the head right. It means more than keen thinking. There are men of the keenest intellect who need the constant urge of right morals.

HATS EIGHT FEET HIGH

During their ceremonial dances the natives of Papua, New Guinea, wear probably the tallest hats in the world—a headdress varying from six to eight feet in height and most gorgeous in coloring.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO IN THE REPORTER

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carpenter spent Thanksgiving with their mother, Mrs. Wallace, at Hinsdale.

Mrs. Crescy and Miss Ruby Crescy spent Thanksgiving Day in Naperville with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Stewart.

Mrs. D. H. Naramore, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Naramore, Miss Gertrude Chambers of Downers Grove, and Mrs. A. B. Coles and daughters, Alice and Clara of Ottawa, spent the Thanksgiving day with Mr. and Mrs. John Stanley.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Graham entertained on turkey day Mr. and Mrs. John Graham of Chicago, Miss Nellie Graham of Topeka, Kas., and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Henning and children of Plano.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. DeGroot celebrated the twenty-eighth anniversary of their marriage Wednesday evening by an at home home at their residence on Washington street.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Morton are happy 'cause their baby's come to town. 'Twas a Thanksgiving boy.

Walter L. Soards left Wednesday evening for New Orleans, his home, after a two months' visit with his cousin, A. P. Daniels, he being a yellow fever refugee. A farewell party was given in his honor Saturday evening.

His friends had quite a bit of fun with James Pentoney after he had "investigated" a new cigar clipper in Bush & Simonson's drug store losing the tip of his little finger as the result of the experimentation. This in spite of the fact that the cutter bore the sign, "This cutter is for cigars, not fingers."

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Miley enjoyed their Thanksgiving dinner with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Skeels at Hinsdale.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. White entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Haggard of Austin, Tuesday of last week. Mrs. Haggard is Worthy Grand Matron of the Order of Eastern Star in Illinois.
