Quackery Sometimes Effective. "Faith and foolishness will cure any disease," says the cynic, and judging by some instances of miraculous wholesale cures, there seems to be some ground for the assertion.

There is the historical episode of the prince of Orange, for instance, who during one of his campaigns, cured those of his soldiers who were dying of the scurvy by a piece of quackery,

With his doctors, who were in the secret, he said he had procured a medteine-really a decoction of camomile. worrswood and camphor-of the greatest rarity and value from the East. It was so strong that two or three drops would impart a heating virtue to a gatlon of water. The men took the medicine with faith and cheerful faces, and. ceptacle presents. Mrs. Emrich, 75 so historians tell us, grew well rapidly.

In the Philippines. Offended Dignity.

In 1917 the Philippine Islands experienced two typhoons, while one hundred and fifty earthquakes were reported from different parts. The damage done was slight and the cas ualties few. They were not so fortunate in Formosa, where two destructive typhoons were experienced in July and August, and two in Japan in October. The appearance of the water hyacinth is reported from several places in the Philippines, and the secretary of agriculture reports that, unless legislation provides for its destruction wherever found, all still or sluggish waters will soon be impassable to craft or logs and even river steamers. The necessity for increasing the working establishment in the forests of the Philippines, if forest produce is to be preserved, is becoming an urgent necessity, and it is pointed out that in Java, Japan and British India forest officers are employed to a much

Gertrude was on the lawn in front of the house, playing with the baby, aged two. Gertrude berself, not more than three times the other's age, was acting the part of mother. Presently along came a young man, who thought he understood children. "Good morning!" he said, taking off his hat. "How are you ladies today?" Gertrude Herald. looked at him with dignity, "Good morning," she replied, and went on attending to the baby. The young can stooped down, "Ah," he said, "and which is which?" "I'm Gertrude," reolied the older girl, "and that's which!"

NEW DIAMOND AMBEROLA

The World's Greatest Phonograph Value

You need a phonograph in your home. Every home in the U. S. A. needs the cheering, soothing, refining influence of good music. But you want the best phonograph made—no other is good enough for your home, your family, your friends.

How can you tell which is the best? Easy-if you use common sense. Difficult-if you trust to the claims of numerous manufacturers.

Look for the man behind the phonograph—the brain that evolved it and perfected it. If you cannot discover any personality behind an instrument you may well doubt its perfection.

The brain of Thomas A. Edison, the greatest inventive genius in the world, is the birthplace of the Amberola! Edison has perfected every detail of this wonder phonograph until in
