Every farmer carries on more or less correspondence and there is no good reason why he should not have printed stationery. Have a neat letterhead with name of farm owner, address and date line, and if engaged in breeding any kind of pure bred stock, say so. Have name and address also on the envelopes. Come to The Reporter office and you will be surprised how cheap 1,000 of each of these are.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO IN THE REPORTER

From the issue of Sept. 22, 1898.

Many veterans of the 82nd Volunteer Infantry gathered at the home of M. E. Stanger on Curtis street last Sunday in an annual get-together of those who live in the vicinity of Chicago.

Chas. K. Roe, who is serving his second term as Superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School, was surprised by that body on Tuesday evening. They left as a souvenir of the occasion a beautifully bound Bible.

Mrs. Grace Coleman of Orange, California, is here for a visit with Mrs. J. W. Rogers.

Will Moor entertained his friends Monday evening in honor of Bert Davis of Berlin, Canada. Those present were Misses Smith, Parke, Rando, Wheeler, Kimball Devereaux, Gilbert, Dixon, Messrs. Beidelman, Wheeler, Zarn, Wells, Kellogg, Stanley.

J. H. Schwartz of Salt Lake City, Utah, is here for a few weeks visit with her sister, Mrs. Katie Schwartz and renewing old acquaintances.

Miss Nellie Mann entertained a party of young people last Thursday evening in honor of her brother Sibley Mann and Marshall Wier, two returned soldiers of the First Illinois Volunteer Cavalry. Those present were Miss Agnes Stewart, Emma Henderson, Mabel Austin, Lottie Seefeld, Messrs. Sibley Mann, Marshall Wier, Frank Kinney, Chas. Wells and John Swift.

Practice Kindness Now.

There are kindnesses, hospitalities, public and private duties, and fellowships in the civic and social life of one's calling and station which help to make our sojourn here satisfying and gratifying. These should not be postponed until we are situated. "I expect to pass through life but once. If, therefore, there be any kindness I can show or any good thing I can do to any fellow-being, let me do it now, and not defer or neglect it, as I shall not pass this way again." This always timely text is usually attributed to William Penn.—Humphrey J. Desmond.

Fossils.

Though historical geology and the study of ancient life depend chiefly on fossils, the term has been very vaguely and loosely applied. As a precise definition, a writer in Science proposes: "A fossil is an object which indicates former existence of an organism which has been buried and preserved by geological causes, previous to historic time." The mastodon preserved in the arctic ice is a fossil, a leaf buried in the gutter is not; and a truly petrified organism may not be a fossil.

Eat Arsenic With Impunity.

In some parts of Austria, and especially in the hilly country toward Hungary, there exists the extraordinary custom of eating arsenic, one of the most deadly poisons. There, however, the peasants are so accustomed to its use that they are able to take huge quantities without harm, and they assert that the remarkable beauty of their women folk is entirely due to constant drugging with arsenic.

Diamonds Used in Shipbuilding.

It is hardly to be imagined that diamonds have anything to do with the building of battleships. Yet this is so, for diamond dust is used for cutting and turning the tremendously hard steel which is used in the manufacture of modern armaments.
