'THE MYSTERY GIRL'

Prince Sebastian, ruler of Lurania, has refused to sell his country to the Germans "for a scrap of paper" and is in hiding with his equerry, Ferdussi, while his niece, Countess Therese, known as "Driver 477", drives an ambulance on the French front.

The story opens with the arrival of a carrier pigeon with a message to "477" from the Prince, telling her that his plans for escape are complete and asking her to meet him at "Green Fancy", Spanish Falls, Maine, U. S. A. She sends a return message by carrier pigeon, saying she will meet the prince at the assigned place with the crown jewels and state papers.

The message is intercepted by Chester Naismith, the cleverest thief in Europe. Naismith strikes a bargain with Prince Ugo, pretender to the throne, a cousin of "477's" and madly in love with her whereby they are to get the jewels and Ugo the Countess.

Capt. Barnes, a young American serving in the French army, to his great disgust, is ordered home with a smoker's heart. He manoeuvres so that he and "477" travel by the same boat to America, but when he tries to make friends with her, she ignores him. Sebastian and Ferdussi arrive first at Green Fancy, followed by Ugo and Naismith, who make the old man prisoner. The Countess on her way to Green Fancy, discovers the body of Ferdussi, who has been murdered, and upon her arrival at the house is also made a prisoner—until such time as she will consent to become Ugo's wife.

At the Tavern Mercedes, the "leading lady" of the stranded troupe of actors, takes "477" under her wing. Barnes has put Mercedes' stage jewels into a box and hidden them in his chimney to mislead Naismith who boasts that he will recover the box in twenty-four hours. They are much amused when they discover Naismith has been caught by this trick, but their joy is turned into dismay when they find that he has also taken the real jewels and papers which they had hidden in Mercedes' trunk. Finally, back in France, now Barnes' wife, "477", once more driving an ambulance, meets Ugo, badly wounded, trying to "make up."

Illness and Literature.

There is nothing like a good, long illness for the cultivation of pure literature. It should not be too severe or needlessly painful, for then you may overshoot the mark and be too weary to read or be read to. It is possible to have too much of even the best things. But a proper, comfortable illness, that keeps you in bed, yet leaves you free to read; that banishes all the interruptions of life, the constitutional walks, the stupid visits, the annoying correspondence, the dressing and the undressing, and all the amenities of modern civilization, and allows you to lie at peace and read your fill, is among the best gifts of the gods. You soon forget to be sleepy and lazy, your mind displays an unwonted activity, and you become conscious of an insatiable craving for books.—Ohio State Journal.

Men Differ.
What is one man's automobile is another man's juggernaut.

Fashion Favored Fabric of Silk

"Silk is spring's favored fabric. It is startling to see the new ways fashion can handle the material for exclusiveness distinct for the new season. On the left is a silk restaurant frock of arbutus pink pique with the drap effect in each line of the sleeve, skirt and waist, but touched off with ruffles or organde. On the right, boyish lines are brought out in the coat dress, the top of satin moderne and the skirt of flounced satin ruff-a-puff crepe.

Ribbed Bonnets Voice Spring

The word spring means just one thing to woman. That thing is "Hats." Therefore this Fashion Art artist in portraying three distinct types for early wear holds the spotlight of attention. Upper left's broad brim tips the key to spring lines when the crown of violets leads away into a broad brim topped with purple de luxe ribbons. On the right a milan straw reaches unthought of heights in bon. The left a perky bonnet for the open-faced miss—the right a blue leather brim on tan colored body, and a veil of Solim for the lady who just can't make her eyes behave.

Ratine Makes Bid to Stay

White ratine is making a bid for a return to popularity in frocks for the coming season. It is the material employed in this neat and serviceable walking gown, and is one of fashion's latest offerings for the girl who is going "Palm Beaching" or into the Southland during the cold months of the North.
