WOUNDED IN ARGONNE IS AGAIN HOME

Still limping from the effect of a piece of high explosive shell which broke his left ankle at Argonne Forest, Fred Plumb of Lisle, was discharged from the U. S. Army at Camp Grant last Thursday.

After receiving his wound he spent two months in hospitals in France and then was sent home. He was on the water when the armistice was signed and was sent to West Baden, Ind., for treatment and from there to Camp Grant and then home.

Plumb was a member of the motor transport corps and was attached to the 1st Division. He saw a great deal of service being at Chateau Thierry, Belleau Wood and other places in the thick of it hauling up to the batteries the much needed ammunition. For days and nights during the big "pushes" he was without food and sleep and dodging the big "uns on the "roads" to the guns. He is very modest about his part in the scrap but from the few crumbs of information he does drop one can realize what he has been through and he says he wouldn't take a million dollars for the experience he has had.

Enlisting in September 1917 he trained in this country for almost six months when his unit sailed. It was but a few days after landing that they were under fire and doing valient work.

Lieut. Whitney Home Again. Lieut. G. H. Whitney is sore, he admits it himself. The reason? Its very simple; he never got a crack at the Jerries.

Immediately after the declaration of war Whitney enlisted and on May 12, 1917 entered the first officers training camp at Ft. Sheridan winning a Second Lieutenant's Commission.

He was assigned to Camp Grant where he spent five months and was then transferred with the artillery unit to Camp Sparta, Wis., where two months were spent in training. From Sparta Lieut. Whitney was transferred as a 1st lieutenant to the school of artillery fire at Ft. Sill, Okla. He sailed for the other side on September 17, 1918 landing at Liverpool on the 29th. The unit then left for South Hampton where they embarked for Cherbourg, France and were assigned to Camp Hunt, 20 miles from Bordeaux where they had a five weeks course when the armistice was signed.

Lieut. Whitney sailed from Marseilles on January 20, 1919 on the Italian ship Duca D'Aosta and surviving the ship grub of mostly macaroni and spaghetti reached Camp Grant February 5th. He was mustered out of service on February 22 and is now home.

VERY SMALL AUDIENCE GREETED GOVERNOR WILLIS

Be it said to the shame of Downers Grove that a very small audience was present at the Curtiss Theatre last Sunday afternoon to hear Governor Willis, of Ohio.

Those who did attend however were amply rewarded for they heard a real speaker give a real talk. It was one of the best talks which has been given in Downers Grove on the war or the aftermath thereof. Gov. Willis told with startling clearness the awfulness of the conditions in Syria, Armenia and the near East. He told of the real need of these people and how and why the United States was the only nation which could relieve these conditions.

The Welcome Orchestra kindly consented to furnish the music for the afternoon and it was appreciated by those in charge.

Our only hope is that local people will in a measure redeem themselves for not attending the meeting Sunday by heavily oversubscribing the relief fund now being solicited.

PFAFF — STINEHOUSE

St. Joseph's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday morning when Dr. Goodwin spoke the words which united Miss Florence Emma Pfaff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pfaff, and Mr. George Stinehouse in holy wedlock.

The bride wore a dress of white satin artistically trimmed with lace and beads and carried a shower bouquet of yellow and white roses. Miss Lucy Henry, the bridesmaid, wore a yellow georgette crepe dress and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Leonard Pfaff, brother of the bride, acted as best man, and Elizabeth Pfaff, a niece, acted as flower girl, carrying a large bouquet of sweet peas. After the ceremony about sixty of the immediate relatives gathered at the home of the bride where an elaborate dinner was served and a pleasant afternoon and evening was spent in dancing and other amusements.
