

LOCALS LOSE 12 TO 8 IN SWAT-FEST SUNDAY

Marshall, of Chicago, Count 14 Hits to Legion's 11 and Pump Home With Bases.

The locals lost to the Marshalls, of Chicago, Sunday in an old time swat-fest. The elusive apple was rapidly cackled for a copious number of base swats until the final score read 12 to 8 with the Legionaires trailing as a lame member.

The locals managed to register bingles in every inning but two but couldn't manage to push across enough runs to fox the city outfit, who gathered bingles in clusters and topped home merrily on dinky swats. Most of the hits were of the Texas leaguer type and were just wee pop ups but disdainfully counted tallies.

The locals were sadly devoid of regulars but the recruits showed lots of pep and fought like all ex-heroes do. Jimmy Karesh, altho sporting a split finger took care of short neatly with Charley Mrkvicka on the far corner. Nash was doing the receiving with George Cline on the initial sack. Whether it was that lively pill or whether Herb was not in good form we cannot say, altho the pill was socked plentifully and frequently.

The game was full of the old thrills despite the fact that bingles were so much in evidence. Snappy fielding staved off more runs and safeties. After both sides had scored a tally each in the third with two gone Karesh tripled to extreme right scoring when Nash's roller along third was bobbed. Binder got on thru the error route pushing Nash to third, after Binder stole second, Ehninger cleaned the sacks with a hot single to center. The fifth and sixth were had innings for both outfits. The city youths romped across three smackers in the fifth on a double, three little bingles just out of the fielders reach, and a hit batsman. In the sixth they wormed across four on four little singles, an error and a sacrifice. The locals tried hard to mess things up in both frames. In the fifth Charley scored on Binder's single after stealing second and romping to third on a bum peg to second. In the second

Butch started affairs with a double, taking third on a passed ball. June Ehninger drew four wide ones and advanced to second on Smith's sacrifice, as Klein crossed the final sack. Mrkvicka and Karesh waited long enough to arrive at the initial sack on passports. With the sacks loaded first baseman Al Lee monkeyed with Nash's high loiter but at last captured it, ending a nice chance to bobble the works. The locals came back in the eighth and put two across, which left them trailing one run with good intentions of scoring more in the ninth. The Marshalls gozzled the works by adding on three more in the last frame. Two dumpy singles, a double and a sacrifice fly caused all the damage.

Much credit must be handed to the locals for the good showing they made Sunday and for all the fight they displayed. They had their heads up all the time and didn't look so badly crippled altho the services of Kingsley, Mochel, Carpenter and Curtiss were badly missed.

Altho the locals have dropped the last two games, they are up on their toes more and have been playing a good brand of ball. With a few of the regulars back again and things a bit rejuvenated the club should be in working order very shortly. Maywood is to play here Sunday and they sport a lively name and a fast club.

NOTES OF THE BALL GAME

A new collection agency is in the process of being formed, after the experience of dragging out checkles from spectators Sunday.

Scop Mochel had a sick spell Saturday and could not enter into Sunday's fray.

Charley Mrkvicka thought he was dodging bullets when some of the fast hoppers rolled his way.

"Brick" was sure up on his toes against the city gang, stabbing at everything and getting most of them, altho few would have nipped the ones he didn't get.

The Marshalls had three real ball players in Shortstop Phillips, First baseman Lee and Centerfielder Gaven. Three sewers.

FROST IN SIX WEEKS SAYS THE LITTLE KATYDID

Legend Handed Down for Hundreds of Years is Interesting if it is Not True.

If the legend of the katydid tells a true story we will have frost by the first week in September. This is not a fact, you understand, but one of those prognostications handed down by our fathers and our father's fathers that six weeks will elapse from the first call of the katydid to the first frost. It may not be true but it is interesting nevertheless, as the katydid and the katydidn't, also, were heard on our streets the past week. Several days ago the news of frost would have brought joy to a sweltering humanity but now that the heat has abated somewhat the end of summer is not welcomed by many of us.

Certainly. When may a man be said to be personally involved? When he is wrapped up in himself.

BASEBALL GAME? ST. JOE. A. C., 28, ROYAL A. C. HAD 6

Umpteen Pitchers Used Last Sunday In Vain Effort to Stop St. Joseph Swatters.

Sunday's game at St. Procopius turned out to be anything but a ball game. It was little more than batting practice for the St. Joes, who by the sixth inning counted 28 tallies including home runs by Bradley, Baron and Riedly.

Spinader started the game for the Royals but it was easily seen that he wouldn't last when after singles by Wimmer and Brady, Bradley tore off a four base swat to deep center. Spiny was replaced in the third by Giebraski.

In the fourth Ankoviak was sent in to pitch, he barely lasted one inning. Denny came up to pitch in the fifth but went out like a light when his first offering was lapped for a home run. Boldebeck then took his turn at tossing them over but his only resemblance to a pitcher was that he had a glove and stood in the pitchers box.

The St. Joe's did not take their raps after the sixth inning and gave the Royals nine outs in a row to end the game. The pitching for St. Joe was taken care of by Baron and Bradley. Baron, who hurt his arm on Saturday still had plenty of dope on the ball but he was relieved by Bradley, who proved he could be relied upon to take his turn on the mound and give a good account of himself. Negotiations are being carried on with teams from Aurora, Naperville and Chicago, for games, and some snappy baseball is promised in the near future.
