ALLMETAL

Weatherstrip is more essential than a valve on a radiator.

This fuel saving device cannot be overlooked, with coal prices higher than during the war.

There's a Long Hard Winter Ahead

It is costly to let heated air waste thru the large crevices around your windows and doors. You can't sit idly by and see your cold cash going to waste.

Allmetal Weatherstrip

The house was most artistic in orange and black, cats and witches smiled at the guests from everywhere. Oak leaves adorned the doors, and the coloring was exquisite. Many unknown spirits roamed the place, everyone being masked. Games and dancing until a late hour then refreshments. The guests departed in the early morning hour, giving three hoots like an owl for the hostesses.

CASS NEWS NOTES

ALFRED PETERSON SURPRISED ON 21st BIRTHDAY

When Alfred Peterson came home from his work last Saturday evening he found awaiting him over thirty friends, come to help celebrate his twenty-first birthday.

The evening was spent playing games and singing. Mrs. Ida Witt furnishing the accompaniment on the piano.

As a remembrance of the event, after a few well chosen words, little Howard Mochel presented him with a beautiful pair of cuff links from those present.

Mrs. Dora Drew and Mrs. Will Mochel served plenty of good cakes, doughnuts and hot coffee to the merry crowd. The only drawback was that the evening was too short.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Staffeldt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Peterson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Will Mochel and family, Mrs. Dora Drew and family, Edwin Sueber, Miss LeMars, Miss Anna Tack, Ida, Adolph and William Witt, Martin, Henry and Clara Faulhaber, Fred and Edward Russell, Alice and Walter Dobson, and Emil Vix.

Last Friday afternoon, October 28, Miss Mabel Oldfield, teacher of the Center Cass school, gave a delightful Halloween party for the children, their mothers and friends. The school house was darkened and lighted jack o' lanterns, autumn leaves and other decorations gave that eerie, mysterious air associated with All Hallow Even. Appropriate games were played, apples were ducked for and a general good time was enjoyed. As a fitting end to the afternoon, the guests toasted marshmallows in the open.

Saturday evening, October 29th.

The Epworth League gave a Halloween party in the parlors of the Cass Church. The event was in the nature of a masquerade and quaint and grotesque were the costumes worn. Friend did not recognize friend and even relatives went unknown until the unmasking. Refreshments were served and those present enjoyed themselves to the full.

Miss Anna Tack was a visitor at the Peterson home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Oldfield and family visited Sunday at Congress Park with the Clark Oldfield family. Joseph Oldfield, of Vandalia, Ill., was present for a visit with his sons and will soon start on a round of visits in Cass.
