FIRE DEPARTMENT BUSY

The local fire department has been quite active the past two weeks answering fire alarms. Shortly after one o'clock last Saturday they were called to the Shaller Restaurant in South Main street to extinguish a blaze in a small outbuilding. Last Monday evening they were called to the pop corn wagon in Main street, next to Phil Mochel's Barber Shop.

Some bags which were lying on the floor took fire and caused quite a blaze but the truck arrived promptly on the scene and quenched it with chemicals. Not much damage was done except from the chemical which messed things up a bit.

This shop will bring rest to your weary hours.

POST OFFICE WAS OPENED AT WESTMONT THIS WEEK

Jos. J. Kadoch has been appointed Postmaster by President W. G. Harding.

The lively, rapidly growing Village of Westmont advanced another step in the right direction last Monday when the postal authorities officially opened up the Westmont postoffice.

Jos. J. Kadoch, who runs a grocery store there, has received his appointment from President Harding. The office is located in Mr. Kadoch's store in Cass avenue and Quincy street, just south of the Burlington tracks.

There will be no delivery there, of course, just yet, all mail to be called for at the office. This is rather quick action for a village that has practically sprung up over night but the Westmont people seem to have the knack of getting what they go after.

Disipation for a Peon.

On Sunday the whole family in Costa Rica visits the nearest village to put in a gala day. Perhaps there is a religious festival in the morning; at any rate, there is a mass to be attended. Afternoon is given over to visits which women and children usually make alone, while the man of the house hangs around the general store or post office, as the center of interest. If he is feeling "tush," he treats himself to a can of evaporated milk, a great luxury, which he drains off through a nail-hole, just as if it were champagne.

Preferences.

We know a man who is an honest crook. That is, he is a crook and frankly proud of it. As a crook he rather excels. He invents crooked things, while others follow the ruts. But the point is, he is a crook, says so himself and does not blush. We also know a deacon who plays poker on Thursday, gets drunk on Friday haws out his family on Saturday and goes to church three times on Sunday. Between the two, we have our choice.

Real Friendship.

Real friendship," said Uncle Eben, "depends just as much in forgetfulness of faults as it does on remembrance of favors."

ROMEO ENJOYED BY YOUNG PEOPLE

About Forty Young People of S. Andrews had General Good Time Last Saturday.

Last Saturday afternoon, July 8, the Young People's Club of S. Andrews, numbering around forty, drove to Romeo and enjoyed the delights of that popular beach. They left here about four o'clock in a truck and several motor cars.

Besides bathing, they played baseball and numerous games. A picnic supper was served in the evening. This club certainly does have jolly parties and other affairs. Once a month they get together and have real fun. They are just a social crowd of young people connected with Saint Andrew's church and it is a pleasure for them to get together.

Insects Use Tools.

In intelligence the insect world ranks next to humankind. Two naturalists tell of seeing a wasp closing a hole in the ground leading to a food cache by tamping the earth with a small pebble it had seized in its mandibles. Heretofore man was supposed to be the only tool user. Out at Grays Harbor, Wash., bandit wild bees have invaded the tame hives and carried away the honey to their hives in the forest. They have stolen more than one-third of the domestic honey gathered in this district. Insect civilization seems right up-to-date.

Oysters Grow on Trees.

In the Farantia harbor of Italy the sight of oysters growing on trees may be seen. This does not mean that the oysters grow like apples and such fruit, but it is the custom there, where the oysters are cultivated, to put trees into the water for the young oysters to cling to. This scheme is said to save innumerable baby oysters which would otherwise be devoured by fish before they had a chance to develop. The trees are placed in the water with the trunks up and when it comes time to transplant the oysters the trees are taken up bodily and carried to the new grounds, saving much labor.

Some Fish Deadly.

No known land animal has naturally poisonous flesh. There are, however, several fish whose flesh is deadly.

Superstition About Sneezing.
Sneezing was the subject of much superstition in the ancient world, and almost always endowed with sinister import. Jewish folk lore has it that in the first ages of the world sneezing was always a presage of death until the coming of Jacob. That astute patriarch, anxious lest he himself should perish from such an insignificant cause, besought the Almighty to endow sneezing with more beneficial attributes, and since then it has been lucky to sneeze between noon and midnight.

Palmistry Up-to-Date.
A Belgian fortune teller has adopted a modern method of palmistry. Those who wish to consult her are required to place their palms on a plaster mold, and from this imprint the seeress forecasts their character and future. The reading is dictated to a stenographer, typed, and mailed to the person interested.
