EFFICIENT BRAKES FOR AUTOMOBILES REQUIRED BY LAW

Many Accidents Caused by Worn-Out or Improperly Adjusted Braking Devices.

Inefficient or improper brake action on automobiles is a constant menace to both the owner and to the general public, Secretary of State Louis L. Emerson declared today in discussing the provisions of the automobile laws, the enforcement of which is under his direction.

"The law provides," he said, "that every motor vehicle and motor bicycle while in use on a public highway shall be provided with good and sufficient brakes and also with a bell, horn or other signaling device." This is a wise provision. Without proper brakes a driver is in constant danger of collision. He should not endanger his own life in this way, and be certainly has no right to endanger the lives of others.

"It is important that every owner of an automobile see that he has a good quality of brake lining and that it is properly installed. Frequent tests for proper brake adjustment should be made. The lining should be kept free from oil and grease. Tests should be made every thousand miles or at least once a month to make sure that the braking power is equally divided between the two rear wheels. Inequality between the wheels often causes skidding.

"Experienced drivers save wear on brake lining and often avoid skidding by shutting off the gasoline throttle and leaving the engine engaged just before it is desired to stop the car, thus reducing braking with the brakes to a minimum."

New Sand Desert.

The only sand desert to be seen in the British Isles is Culbin sands, which cover a large area in Nairn and Elgin on the south side of the Moray Firth. Yet this country, only a few centuries ago, was rich, well-cultivated land.

Red Haired Girls More Alert.

The manager of one large exchange claims to have discovered that girls with red hair are more alert than their blond or brunette sisters, and consequently make the best telephone operators.

Cats Sense Earthquakes.

Cats and some other animals seem to be endowed with what some investigators regard as a sixth sense in their ability to sense the approach of an earthquake or similar disturbance. In the earthquake countries it is frequently noted that the cats are very restless just before one of these demonstrations. At Valparaiso the family cat of a well-known scientist was noticed to be very restless, its uneasiness increasing up to the point when a "trembler" was experienced and during the disturbance the animal's hair was raised and ears flattened.

The Buick Motor is constant in power, in acceleration and smoothness because its carburetor automatic heat control functions equally well in summer or winter, under every motoring condition. All the heat required for the proper vaporization of present day low-grade fuels is supplied automatically as the throttle is opened and closed.

The carburetor automatic heat control is just one more of the exclusive features that make the Buick owner dissatisfied with anything but a Buick.

"Mr. Merchant: Keep Your Bells Ringing!"

Sometimes, when a man refuses to advertise, the explanation is his own personal vanity.

That sounds strange, because we more often hear men accused of being self-advertisers BECAUSE of their vanity.

Yet, the fact remains: Vanity keeps a man from advertising as much as his business requires.

He regards himself as so important that everybody must know about him. Therefore, surely, he figures, he doesn't need to advertise.

The truth is that the biggest enterprise in the world couldn't survive a lack of the right kind of publicity.

Even the President of the United States, if his name were never mentioned in the papers, would soon become a nonentity.

Recently a very convincing argument was addressed to a man who had an exaggerated idea of the far-flung fame of his own business establishment.

The selling talk was brief. It was made by the elephant-banner man attached to a circus. It was the province of the elephant-banner man to induce a local merchant to pay a suitable sum of money for having a short, snappy advertisement painted on banners to be draped on the sides of one of the big elephants that marched in the parade.

He went to see the proprietor of the town's biggest dry goods store. This man was pleased over his own business success and was as sure of himself as the Angel Gabriel.

"No, declared the merchant, "we don't need any elephant to tell the people where our store is. Every man, woman, or child for miles around knows where Brown & Brown are located. Is isn't necessary to advertise much any more."

"How long have you been in business?" inquired the elephant-banner man.

"About eighteen years," was the proud reply.

"And how long has the Methodist Church been here?"

"The Methodist Church?" repeated the merchant, wondering what that had to do with it.

"Why, I guess there's always been a Methodist Church in this town. Oh, that church up on the hill has been there ever since the town was laid out—60 years, I reckon."

"All right," went on the circus man, and now let me ask you one more question;

"Isn't it a fact that the Methodist church, after sixty years of successful operation here in town, still rings its bell regularly every Sunday morning?"
