BAL'S BERRYMAN BURNER B. E. Balczynski, who has been putting on quite an advertising campaign in DuPage county through the various community newspapers, and especially in the Reporter here in Downers, is meeting with success in his selling efforts. Five of the Berryman Oil Burners have been sold in Downers Grove and "Bal" says he is just getting started. His ads in The Reporter and his selling talk have been so good that the Downers Grove Publishing Co. has installed one of the burners and will give it a thorough trial this coming winter.

"Bal" is sales and distributing agent for the Berryman Oil Burner, the Breeze Oil Burning Boiler, using the oil tank made by the Chicago Steel Tank Co., in connection with the installation. The burners are installed under personal supervision of Mr. Berryman, the inventor, and Mr. Balczynski and is guaranteed to produce results. It is a very simple arrangement and there is nothing to get out of order, can be regulated from the kitchen or any other room desired upstairs or down and is automatic in operation. The small clock which comes with the outfit can be set at night upon retiring just like an alarm clock and it in turn sets the burner in operation in the morning to produce a higher temperature and have the rooms nice and cosy when you get up. It does away with the dirt and smoke of coal, no ashes to haul out and the gas oil, used in the burner leaves no odor when burning. It is non-combustible and the service tank is installed in the basement.

Drunkards Among Insects. Entomologists have found that ivy flowers provide a veritable bacchanalian festival for a number of insects. When the willow is in bloom they find a similar scene of dissipation around its yellow catkins. There is a fly so addicted to wine that Linnaeus named it the "cellar fly," which appellation Kirby changed to the more appropriate one of the "cellar wine drinker." Kirby states that the larvae of this little fly, whose diet he could attest from his own observations, disdains to feed on anything but wine or beer.

Heavy Losses Caused by Fungi. The annual loss caused by forest fires is enormous, but it is no greater than that attributable to fungi, which rot mine timbers, bridge timbers, telegraph poles and other structures of wood, necessitating their replacement. The "life" of the average railway tie is seven and a half years; if fungi would let it alone it would last twice that long.

Warehouse Law in Effect. Department of Agriculture Co-operating With Bankers in States in the Northwest. Efforts to put the United States warehouse act in effect on a large scale in the Northwest are being made by the United States Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the banks of that section. Grain warehousemen who were licensed under the act last year have indicated their intention of renewing their licenses this year, and it is expected that a number of other warehousemen will come into the system.

GREEN MANURE HELPS SOILS. Government Has Collected Much Valuable Information in Regard to Practice. Many of the poorer soils can be improved by plowing under a green manure crop. The government has recently collected the available information in regard to the practice into a farmers' bulletin, No. 1250, on "Green Manuring," which may be obtained free on application to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Every man interested in soil improvement ought to have a copy.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success In the year 1922 no one has time to hear you tell why you DIDN'T succeed. Everyone is too busy trying to make a financial success of his or her own life.
