THE PADDED HAMMER

The following, clipped from the Cook County Herald, Palatine, Ill., records the vacation doings of Prof. George C. Butler. Mr. Butler was for many years superintendent of the Downers Grove schools and he and his good wife still have many friends in the community.

Most school teachers when vacation time comes along are only too ready to drop all thought of school affairs and hie themselves to some summer resort, take some lake trip or otherwise demonstrate that they have thrown off the fetters of the school room and are out for a good time.

The other day seeing signs of activity around the school house and wanting to see what the janitor and decorators were up to, we went across the street, entered the school building, and received the shock of our life. For there we found Supt. G. C. Butler working like a laboring man, helping the janitor and his assistants move the laboratory equipment from the top floor to the basement. Mr. Butler wasn't just "bossing the job," he was helping to do the work. We hadn't seen the professor for some time and thought that probably he was enjoying himself at some cool lake somewhere, but there we found him, sweating away in a stuffy school house in mid-summer helping get things in shape for the coming school year.

And that moving job isn't the only school work Supt. Butler has been doing in off-hours. He has been at work all summer sifting down the hundreds of applications for positions and selecting a force of teachers for the grade school that will continue to keep Palatine "in the map" educationally.

There isn't any blare of trumpets about the way Mr. Butler does his work. He goes at things in a quiet effective manner, and the fact that he "delivers the goods," and gets results, is well known to every real friend of the Palatine schools and particularly the high school, which have never before had the standing that they enjoy today, which standing is year by year getting stronger under the able leadership of Mr. Butler. The opinion which the University of Illinois holds of Mr. Butler may well be proud to have at the head of her educational institution: a man who is recognized as one of the best school men in the state. So this week the Enterprise takes off its hat to, and uses its "Padded Hammer" upon a man who has done probably more for the schools of Palatine and the future of education here than anyone else in the last 20 years; a man who uses his vacation in quietly going about his business of building better and stronger foundations of learning for the boys and girls of Palatine.

WM. F. JOLITZ IS A CANDIDATE FOR WIS. CO. CLERK

Wounded Soldier has Fine Chance for Election to the Office at Rhinelander.

William F. "Jack" Jolitz, the wounded soldier who has been making his home in Downers Grove while taking vocational training through the government, is a candidate at the primaries in September for the office of county clerk of Oneida county, Wisconsin. He is the only Republican candidate at the primary and so has an unequalled chance to secure the office. Rhinelander is the county seat, Jolitz's home and the county is nominally Republican.

Mr. Jolitz lost a leg during the world war. He is well qualified for the position and will leave for home a few weeks before the election in November to finish the campaign.

Expected Results.

WOMEN IN POLITICS

By Mrs. W. J. O'Neill

Ruskin says: "Women are responsible for war—not because they do not make war but because they do not prevent it." It would seem that women must realize now that they have the vote that they are responsible for the evils that at present exist in our affairs of government—not because they bring such evils about, but they do not prevent or assist in eradicating them. Until women had the franchise they could take these things easy and say "we would suggest and work for remedies but the men prefer to do it and we are prevented from taking an active part." But now no such excuse can be made. The women are jointly responsible with the men for the guiding of the destinies of this republic. In order to be intelligent as to what constitutes their new duties and how most effectively to perform them the new voters should become familiar with the Constitution of the United States and their state constitution. Here in Illinois we are amending our old constitution and the form to be submitted to the voters for adoption next December should be carefully studied by every citizen.

The following sections are included in those for consideration. Each week we will insert in this column a few sections in the hope that the readers will acquaint themselves in that way with the provisions of this important document:

Section 17—No state treasurer shall again hold that office within four years after his term expires. The treasurer may be required by the Governor to give reasonable additional security and in default of so doing his office shall be deemed vacant.

Section 54—No person elected to the general assembly shall receive or hold any lucrative civic appointment in this state during the term for which he is elected.

Section 55—No member of the general assembly during his term or within one year thereafter shall be beneficially interested, directly or indirectly in any contract, authorized by a law enacted during his term, with the state or any subdivision thereof or any municipal corporation.

Extensive public discussion will no doubt be general and an acquaintance with the matter contained in this new constitution will indicate whether or not we as citizens are really interested in maintaining unimpaired our Republican form of government.

One of the ways in which we can become acquainted with the way our government functions is to read "The American Commonwealth" by James Bryce. This book is in our public library and should be read by everyone. We must begin to take an active interest in the preservation of the institutions of our country. The success of this experiment in Democracy which we are carrying on in the United States is of vast importance to the whole world. Every citizen is responsible for its success and should make it his or her business to become intelligent and conversant with the dangers that lie in the path of this success so that we may effectively combat such dangers.

STEWART BURNS

INSTALLS ICELESS REFRIGERATION

New Ammonia Brine Plant Keeps Refrigerator Down to the Freezing Point.

An iceless refrigeration system is the latest up-to-date device to be installed by Stewart Burns in the North Side Grocery and Market in North Forest avenue. An ammonia contrivance, driven by an electric motor keeps the large ice box at the freezing point all the time. In this refrigerator which is so essential to the proper preservation of footstuffs and which is used in the large cold storage houses.

The pipes, through which the brine solution runs, are usually coated with about an inch of frost.
