

Richard Lloyd Jones tells About Money

A YOUNG man who recently inherited a mammoth fortune speaking of what his friends called his "good fortune," said: "It is not all the 'good fortune' it seems to be. With it has come a sense of responsibility that weighs and worries. Moreover, I no longer hold the place among my former friends that I used to hold and want to retain. They envy me, and envy isolates. I cannot associate in the same old way. If I entertain my friends moderately I learn that I am accused of being miserly. If I entertain them lavishly I know they must feel that I put them beyond the hope of reciprocating courtesies. I find my money is putting my friends to the test quite as much as me. I am anxious to use my money for the good of others, not alone for my good. "Those who can share that thought with me and help me in that desire are few. My 'good fortune' has built a wall about me." Money is the insignia of labor. It represents the investment of brawn and brain. He who wastes it wants. He who squanders it upon his own pleasures and pastimes is forced to feel the waste even though his resources be so inexhaustible that he may never feel the pinch. Man's worth is measured by his earnest eagerness to help others.

The closest personal advisor of one of the richest men in America recently told us that his friend, whose income was over half a million dollars a day, needed no counsel in the game of getting, but he eagerly sought help in the game of giving. To help men without hurting them was the problem which perplexed him. "Do I live for myself or for others,—am I altruistic or egotistic,—am I merely my own keeper or am I my brother's keeper?"—these are the problems which money forces you to face; and you face them just as squarely with four hundred a month as four millions a month. It is good to feed bread to the hungry, but it is better to find out why they are without bread, to help them get their own bread than give them your bread. The highest philanthropy is more than charity. The curse of the world is poverty. The great war of the twentieth century is going to be the war against poverty. So long as money represents the product of labor, the getters and givers of money will find their opportunity for happiness only through the privilege of enlarging the markets of labor, rightly rewarding labor and giving just returns to them who invest their brawn and brain for the good of their brothers as well as for the good of themselves.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY for 1922

HERE'S the housing problem. Nothin' but high rents, high taxes an' cares, but why kick? Let's get back to the ways of our sturdy ancestors and live in the caves. Still, we've got to face all this marital discontent. Everybody gettin' married, gettin' divorced, gettin' married again, gettin' divorced again, an' the whole trouble could be stopped by nobody gettin' married at all. Then we've got the trouble with children—nothin' but care an' sacrifice—well, let the people decide not to have any children. Really, there isn't a con-founded thing right with the whole world, so why not stop it? Can't be done? Now, we're in a fix. Maybe we'd better not waste time grouching. Then we'd have time to fix things up.

Poem by UNCLE JOHN

I wonder if the man's alive, that's got a perfect score, in pleasin' all the critics that his life is flashed before? It's true our dear Redeemer lived a short, though perfect span. . . . But critics pierced his lovin' heart, as brutal humans can. . . . This land or our'n has shed its blood, that peoples might be free. We seized our swords an' bayonets, an' said, "It's got to be!" We sent our dashing boys abroad, an' crushed the monster's might, and now, we hear the critics howl, "They never done it right!" Facts is—a lot of Dervishes, in editorial guise, that spends their time promotin' all the politician's lies. . . . They occupy a velvet seat, an' shake their loaded dice—they'd criticize the angels, if the devil had the price!

NOTES OF LEAGUE OF WOMAN VOTERS

If present plans of some of the large women organizations of Illinois materialize, Mrs. O'Neill, first woman legislator from this state, will be given a cordial reception at Springfield January 3. A special train may run from Chicago to the Capitol which will carry women from all over the state to receive Mrs. O'Neill. A banquet in the evening will add much to the enjoyment of those making the trip. The Downers Grove branch of the Illinois League of Women Voters held its regular monthly meeting on November 22 at the home of Mrs. M. H. Prince. Interesting reports of the state convention were given by local delegates, Mesdames Replinger, Parrish, Skinner and Paine. Committee chairmen gave their regular reports. Mrs. Parrish, head of the legislative committee announced that her committee is to study current political problems at regular meetings, and that these meetings are open to any woman in the league interested. New committee chairmen appointed were: Committee on Living Costs: Mrs. Brunns Committee on Education: Mrs. N. Anderson. Committee on Publicity: Mrs. E. G. Geisert. The State Board of the League of Women Voters gave a luncheon at the League headquarters November 27 in honor of Miss McDowell, who has recently returned from Czechoslovakia. A doctor from Labrador was also one of the guests at the luncheon. Miss McDowell gave an intimate account of some of the present day problems of Czechoslovakia. While in Europe she sat in the conference of the league of nations for one month. She told a few interesting things about the league. It has two representative houses, the secretary and the assembly. The secretary is composed of representatives from all nations. In the assembly we find 52 nations represented. The United States is not among these but Haiti is. Contributed.

Benefit May Be Argued Blow. There is a gift that is almost a blow, and there is a kind word that is munificence; so much is there in the way of doing things.—A. Helps.

Solidified Blossom. The pineapple is a solidified blossom, say the horticultural experts, and it is pineapple blossom time from June to October in Hawaii.

Almost Beyond Humor Devising. I am trying to do two things—dare to be a radical, and not be a fool; which, if I may judge by the exhibitions around me, is a matter of no small difficulty.—James A. Garfield.

Tiger of France is With Us

Georges Clemenceau, The Tiger of France and the great War Premier, is now on a triumphant tour of the United States, carrying a message of national friendship. The grizzled old warrior is now 81 year old. Above—his first look up at the famous Woolworth Tower in New York. Below—his reception at City Hall Park, N. Y.

"There is not a business throughout the length and breadth of the United States but what is bound, in the logical course of nature, to feel the effect of the announcement that the farmers of America are coming into the market with $7,000,000,000 to spend. WHAT HAVE YOU TO SELL?"—Wm. H. Rankin, President, Rankin Advertising Agency.

Or Think of Hat Check. "Don't eat when in an unhappy frame of mind," says a medical authority, thus clearly indicating that it were wise in some restaurants to order your meal without looking at the prices.

Helpful Advice. "When a man go broke he fin' out mighty soon who he friends," said Charcoal Eph, moodily. "Yussuh; all he friends come aroun' an' tell him what a damfool he been!"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Good Reader a Necessity. "Tis the good reader that makes the good book; a good book cannot read amiss.—Emerson.
