TO TRY "LIGHT ISLANDS" AT MAIN AND CURTISS

Work was begun this morning on two "light islands" those red, iron covered electric lights, set at street intersections in Chicago, at Main and Curtiss streets. It is hoped to have them completed in a few days. If they prove satisfactory, others will be placed in the business district.

WHEATON H. S. BEATS ELGIN 7 - 0 YESTERDAY

The undefeated Wheaton high school team, champions of the "little seven" association and of DuPage co. beat the strong Elgin high school eleven yesterday in Elgin by a score of 7 to 0. A thousand rabid Wheaton fans accompanied the team to the watch city and helped yell their favorites to a, beforehand, unexpected victory. Much as we hate to do it, we'll have to "hand it to" the Wheaton outfit as being able to play the grand old game of football.

"A PAIR OF SIXES" HIGH SCHOOL PLAY ARTISTIC SUCCESS

Cast Shows Good Training in Annual Senior Play Monday and Tuesday Nights.

"A Pair of Sixes" presented by the Senior class of the high school Monday and Tuesday evenings was a marked success both from an artistic and financial point of view. No one in the cast could be said to be "better" for everyone carried off well their part in the production.

Wilfred Pape, as T. Boggs Johns, younger partner in the firm of the Eureka Digestive Pill Co., made a great hit with the audience and very cleverly played his part. James Mitchell, as George Nettleton, the elder partner, took his part in a very fine and humorous manner. Mr. Vandenholt, who finally settled the controversies of the pair, was a dangerous and clever lawyer as played by Lyman Dum.

Ruth Thatcher, the fiancee of T. Boggs Johns, portrayed well the part of a very charming young lady. Mrs Nettleton, wife of the elder partner, was played very effectively by Helen Lewis. Caddles, Antionette Smith, as the English maid of all work, was a scream. She took a very hard character part perfectly.

Margaret Smith, as Jimmy, the office boy, Cathryn Deegan, as Sally, the stenographer, Eugene Foster, as Krome, the bookkeeper, and Gardiner Barr as the shipping clerk, could not have been improved upon.

Mr. Applegate, played by Harry Putnam and Tony Tohler, Jack Fisher, were splendidly done.

Miss Bleecher is to be complimented on her splendid work in the direction of the cast.

Miss Margaret Smith also sang between acts and her charming voice greatly pleased the audiences.

"A full tide of unprecedented prosperity is setting in throughout the United States. I have never seen a brighter outlook nor more hopeful condition. Of course it is the rubber business I know best about, but prosperity in any line means equal prosperity in all related industries."—W. O. Rutherford, Vice-President, Goodrich Rubber Co.

'A Jack of All Trades' IS USUALLY MASTER OF NONE

A Competant Chiropractor is Master of One

Chiropractic is so big a subject and of such vital importance to sick people, that I mix nothing else with it, being satisfied that to do so would only detract from my efficiency as a Chiropractic and be detrimental to the best interests of my patients who come to me to regain their health with Chiropractic Adjustments because of some friend having been restored to health with straight, unadulterated Chiropractic Adjustments.

If you are ailing in any way whatever, I want you to know you will be welcome to call at my office for a free consultation.
