

Women's Institute Holiday

Miss Louise Heringa of the Horticultural Department, O. A. C., demonstrating "Flower Arrangement".

Professor E. C. Stillwell, Department of Animal Husbandry, O. A. C., demonstrates "Let's Know Our Meat Cuts".

A sampling period following a Foods demonstration by Miss Jessie Lambden of Macdonald Institute.

MORE than 1,500 women attended the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario's fourth annual holiday at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, in July. Seventy women lived in residence throughout the week; the others came, usually in bus loads, for a day or for special sessions. The conference was in charge of the provincial president Mrs. R. G. Purcell, the secretary Mrs. John McCulloch and Mrs. Loren Guild who acted as "House Mother" or general hostess.

In a racy report by Mrs. Paul Eydt of Kuhryville Institute the following were some of the high lights in the week's programme: The morning devotions and inspirational sermons by Padre Young; a panel discussion on World Affairs led by Ralph Campbell of the College Department of Economics with Dr. Norman High, Prof. J. R. Caver and Mr. Pillai of Ceylon participating—Mr. Pillai is a student attending the College under the Colombo Plan (The women's interest in this discussion was shown in the number of questions they asked the speakers.) And there were the evening sessions when Miss Anna P. Lewis, Director of the Women's Institute Branch, using her coloured slides, told the story of the Canadian Institute women's overseas tour, and of her own "Glimpses of Historical Ontario"; a picnic at Elora to see the Shand Dam and to visit the historic Anglican Church under the guidance of Mrs. Katharine Marston, editor of the Elora Express.

The women were enthusiastic, too, about the