

its own special treatment and care) the Federal Government be asked to set up a system of labelling so that the consumers will know the proper treatment of each material.

That (because so many vices and broken homes can be traced to the use of intoxicating drink, and because the Institutes feel it a duty to help the youth to-day) the Ontario Government be requested to allow no more outlets for the sale of liquor in the Province.

That Premier Frost and his Government be urged to refrain from lifting the ban on advertisements "holding up" the merits of intoxicating beverages.

That the Provincial Government be asked to pay out of the revenue from the sale of spirituous liquors: the extra judicial costs (of court cases) due to the use of spirituous liquors, the cost of institutional care for alcoholics, the cost of education regarding the effect of alcohol on individuals.

That the Government be asked to put a ban on the printing of pictures of scantily clad and nude women on calendars, billboards and magazines and that publishers' cooperation be sought.

That Women's Institute members be asked to use their influence to get rural school boards to seek the cooperation of their school inspector and Dr. Stothers, inspector of auxiliary classes, to the end that auxiliary classes be made available in rural schools for those children who require it.

That the National Film Board be requested to make more Canadian films and film strips of a sort to instil in our youth a proper love of Canada and good citizenship.

That, because the heels of children's hosiery are not heavy enough to withstand heavy wear and because they shrink at the first washing, manufacturers be asked to pre-shrink all yarns used in children's hosiery and to knit the heels double thickness.

That the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario be urged to become actively interested in establishing a memorial to our pioneers in the form of a museum that will preserve the story of the development of rural life.

That all municipal councils be asked to spray for the eradication of weeds and wild shrubbery.

That the Government be asked to pass legislation making it compulsory for all farmers raising cattle to have breeding stock vaccinated against Bang's Disease.

That the Federal Government be requested to retain the name "Dominion of Canada."

That the Provincial Department of Municipal Affairs be asked to circularize all municipalities in Ontario, directing them to have cemeteries cared for.

That the Dominion Government be asked to raise the floor price of cream to sixty-eight cents.

That the Institutes go on record as favoring severe penalties for parents found guilty of leaving young children unattended and that the legislation regarding the minimum age of baby sitters be rigidly enforced.

That the method of tendering for mail routes be altered so that a mail carrier may receive a proper wage.

That the Provincial Government set aside a certain sum for the preservation and marking of places of special historic significance in the development of Ontario.

That the Government pass an Antiquities Act which would protect known historic sites and future discoveries, and that in the event of a discovery only recognized Canadian archaeologists be permitted to probe its secrets and plan the preservation of its relics.

That in recognition of the A.C.W.W. conference being held in Canada the Postmaster-General be petitioned to have a special issue postage stamp for distribution in 1953.

That commission houses on the Toronto live-

Photograph taken at Cornwall Centre Institute's fortieth anniversary tea. The oldest members are seated, Mrs. John Esdale, left and Mrs. Howard Poapst right. The first meeting was held at Mrs. Poapst's home forty years ago. Over one hundred guests from other branches in Stormont were entertained at this event and five life memberships were presented for valuable service.