

An Elgin County Homemaking Club Leaders' Training School in clothing. The home economist, Miss Agnes Turnbull is hidden behind the member studying the pattern.

A class in Rug Making, Sandhill Institute in Peel County, taught by Miss Florence Wright, standing. The young mothers here didn't let the fact that they had small children prevent them from learning to make rugs.

The class and some of the work shown at a Home Craft Achievement Day—Blyth Institute with Wingham and Clinton participating. Articles made included leatherwork, moccasins, gloves, weaving, needlepoint and needlework. The instructor, Miss Ina Lindsay, is third from left, seated.

Two members of East Fort William Institute model nightgowns made in a class in Lingerie. The teacher, Miss Eleanor Kidd, is second from the left.

Home economist, Miss Jean Noble at the right, discusses becoming lines in dresses at a Home-making Club leaders' Training School in Durham County.

Below—At a Nutrition course in Supper Dishes, Havelock Institute. The Instructor, Miss Margaret Meyer is at the left.

Below—Miss Irene McBride, psychologist, with the Ride-out Institute Class in "We Call It Human Nature." Keewatin and Jaffray Institute participated in this course.

