Carry-On Institute's International Day program included the reading of a letter from an Institute in England — a letter accompanied by a gift of lavender; making arrangements to send a bale of clothing for European relief; the roll call "Another continent I would like to visit and why"; the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner"; a talk on Current Events in World Affairs"; a solo "Hymn of All Nations"; and a contest in identifying emblems of other countries. Three members served a typical Danish lunch.

At Elma's International Day meeting Mrs. Vilmanen gave a talk comparing Christmas in Canada with Christmas in her native country, Estonia. One member showed slides of places of interest in Germany and other countries that she had visited last year and another member, native of Newfoundland, talked about that part of Canada. The roll call was "A foreign country I would like to visit."

At Simcoe's Citizenship and Education meeting the roll call was to be answered by telling "Why I am proud to be a Canadian." A special feature of the meeting was an address on the local work among retarded children.

Brooke had a program dealing mainly with a study of Ceylon. A film "War and Want" showed the great improvement in conditions made through UNESCO.

South Mountain is sending a book, "Ottawa" to its Institute link in Australia.

Humberstone had a very enlightening address on married women's property rights. (Perhaps any Institute would do a good piece of educational work by getting a lawyer or someone equally qualified to address a meeting on this subject and also the question of Wills. We would suggest it for a meeting attended by men as well as women. — Ed.)

At a meeting on Education, Richview had the roll call "How parents can help a teacher."

Fenwick, for its meeting on Education had a history of Ontario's educational facilities from two hundred years ago up to the present. The school teachers of the district were invited for the tea hour.

Richard's Landing Institute joined the teaching staff of their school in sponsoring an Open Night at the school to help parents to keep in touch with their children's school life. A projector recently purchased by the pupils and film strips provided by the Institute were demonstrated. A collection was taken to buy more films. Following a program of entertainment the Institute served refreshments.

Campbell's Corner had an informative address on "Recreation and Television" by Robert Secord, district supervisor of the Community Programmes Branch of the Department of Education.

At a 4-H Homemaking Club Leaders' Training School in Perth County, preparing for the unit "The Club Girl Stands On Guard," the chief librarian of Stratford Public Library spoke on books and reading, library service and books the girls might read.

A feature of a program on Education at Uniondale Institute was a history of the Canadian poet, Pauline Johnson, with readings from her poetry by several members.

Chesley devoted one program to Canadian Art and Literature. Members spoke on outstanding Canadian pictures and the artists who painted them. And the local librarian exhibited and briefly reviewed recent Canadian books, with special reference to the Governor-General's awards.
