Members of the Panel were Mrs. Alex Hammond, Mrs. Allan Munro, Mrs. Crosby Sothorn, Mrs. Ford Sudden, Mrs. Howard Wylie, Mrs. Harold Bell; Ethel Chapman, Chairman. Copies of the script may be borrowed from the Loan Library, Home Economics Service, 1207 Bay St., Toronto. An Institute may borrow a copy for each member of its panel which might be seven, six, five or even four members.

Before and after the Panel a chorus of South Wellington Institute members in costumes of sixty years ago, coached by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kidd of the College, sang songs of the period. There were other old time songs with a bit of clever acting by Mrs. Cameron Lush and Mrs. Claire Robinson and solos by Mrs. Ken Griffiths. The delegates left no doubt of their enjoyment of this entertainment, and of the organ and piano recital by Mr. and Mrs. Kidd, and the community singing led by Padre Young with Mrs. Kidd at the piano. It is not surprising that the Women's Institutes like to hold their conferences and conventions at the College whenever this is possible.

A surprise number on the programme was a fashion show of styles worn down the years since the Institutes were organized in 1897. This was arranged by the versatile and tireless Conference Secretary, Mrs. E. V. Thompson who made a very charming commentator for the fashion revue.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE PROGRAMME

THE THEME of this year's A.C.W.W. Conference programme is "How countrywomen can take a more active part in the international field through the work that lies before them as members of their organization":

Round Table discussions will deal with:

Home Economics and Family Life,

Economic Production, rapid industrialization and the problem of over-population,

Means of preserving and sharing the best of our National Cultures,

Contribution of Rural Women's Organizations towards their country's development,

Conservation of Natural Resources,

Ways and means of spreading information about United Nations and its Specialized Agencies.
