

McIntyre: The convener of historical research reported on the post office and mail service in the township and city (Port Arthur or Fort William) in the last hundred years.

Rosslyn: "Members took part in reading 'through the years with the Women's Institute' from the date it was founded." (We don't know of a book by this title. Perhaps it was the book Fifty Years of Achievement, available from the F.W.I.O. Secretary, 20 Spadina Road, Toronto for fifty cents.—Ed.)

Manilla sent the history they had compiled of the village of Manilla to the Victoria county historical society.

Farewell gave a prize at a meeting to the member showing the oldest coin.

Aldershot is renewing lost landmarks in the area. They had an interesting discussion on the first school each member attended.

Bogartown compiled a booklet on Bogartown history for the centennial celebration.

Elm Grove considered their historical research programme outstanding. Speakers active in research in Ontario emphasized the importance of finding and preserving records of pioneer life in the community.

Mount Albert purchased a book in memory of Mrs. Steeper of Mount Albert to be placed in the log cabin provided by the Women's Institute and moved to the grounds of Sharon Temple. The York county Institutes have contributed generously to the "log cabin fund."

Union Street found a great deal of interest in collections of old buttons, old jewellery and Ruth I. Woods of the Grace Patterson 4-H Homemaking Club receives from Mrs. Donald Hossack, Regional Vice-Pres. F.W.I.O., the Oxford County Women's Institute Scholarship. Ruth has completed thirteen club units. The scholarship will be applied on a degree course at Macdonald Institute.

Margaret Syer, winner of the Canadian National Exhibition Scholarship in Ontario this year. The scholarship will be applied on a degree course at Macdonald Institute.

Evelyn McTaggart, winner of the 1958 York County Ontario Women's Institute Anna P. Lewis scholarship, has completed fifteen 4-H Homemaking Club projects, assisted the leader with four projects. She plans to enter Teacher's College this fall.

Isabel Bierworth winner of the 1958 Flora Durnin Grey County Women's Institute Scholarship. Isabel has completed thirteen club units. She plans to apply her scholarship on a degree course at Macdonald Institute.

old lace with a competition in "Something new from something old."

Lookout Bay had a panel discussion by older members of the community on "Our district fifty years ago."

International Features

Rosehill had a paper on UNICEF.

Erindale had a professor of Engineering speak to them about his work on the Colombo Plan in Pakistan.

Cobden had an International programme with people from other countries as guests. The roll call was "Something I learned from a new Canadian."

Mountain View for its December meeting had a talk by a Dutch Canadian woman about Christmas in Holland and three women from Holland sang carols in their own language.

Bloomfield had a Dutch clergyman speak on the differences in living conditions and in the Church and family life in Holland and Canada; and why the Dutch leave their own country.

Cassburn: Members came to the meeting dressed to represent a country. A letter was read from a Dutch friend, describing Holland—the country, people, travel, occupations in contrast to Canada.