

Mrs. Lorne Derbyshire, at left, President Leeds North District Women's Institutes and Mrs. J. O. Forrester, F.W.I.O. Board Member, present 4-H Home-making Club County Honour Certificates to Donna and Nancy Kelly. An older Kelly sister is working for Provincial Honours and a year ago there were four Kelly girls in club work. The project at that time was Sleeping Garments and the father bought them a sewing machine so they could take the project. (The father was a 4-H Calf Club member years ago.)

with films by a representative of the Lands and Forest Department.

Walton had a "Front Page Challenge" Panel by members.

Gorrie used the Millinery Kit from the Loan Library as the basis for a program. They also enjoyed a demonstration on making wood fibre flowers.

East Huron Institutes — at least Moncrieff, Walton, Bluevale, Gorrie, Wroxeter, Majestic report contributing to a bursary for a child with the Children's Aid Society.

Junetown recommends inviting teachers to take part in a discussion with parents on education and any new courses of study.

Aberarder enjoyed their program on Resolutions this year more than previously, by having a panel discussion on Resolutions.

Lucasville invited the men to a family night in the school and had a local lawyer speak on Wills with a question period following the address. The school children provided the program.

Ferguson's Falls had three interesting films from the Ontario Hydro Power Development.

Iona Station: "Discussions of the provincial reports by conveners of standing committees proved very helpful."

Middlemarch especially enjoyed a talk and demonstration on "Oil Painting for Beginners."

Payne's Mills had a lively debate "Resolved that grandmother's education is good enough for today's child."

Violet Hill: "We would recommend a careful study of eating habits which was brought to our attention in the Eat to Live and The Third Meal projects."

Westbrooke enjoyed the film "Party Line" shown by a representative of the Bell Telephone Company.

Centreville had a paper and a film on Australia and suggests that other branches might be interested in Australia because the A.C.W.W. convention will be held there in 1962.

Clavering advises: "At family night, have a short business session and have members and their husbands both answer the roll call 'Something I admire in my husband (or wife).' And for a program on Education have a panel of parents and teachers discuss some phase of education."

Keward: "At one of our good meetings each member contributed something to the program." Shallow Lake: "For our grandmothers' meeting the grandmothers supplied the program and the non-grandmothers provided the lunch." Sandusk especially enjoyed its Fun Program with games, contests, singing, readings and everyone taking part.

At Rutherford the standing committees were divided, for example the convener of Health and Home Economics planned one program featuring Health and another featuring Home Economics. They found that it made their program planning easier. West Arran suggests that if each standing committee convener arranged only one program, more members would have a part in planning the year's program and this might result in more variety.

Shetland had a Smorgasbord supper for family night. Bentpath had an Irish Stew dinner at their March meeting. Do R Best finds that "films bring the members out." Port Lambton considers its annual Mother and Daughter banquet one of the best events of the year. Highland Park enjoyed films and talks by Victorian Order Nurses.

Brooke Juniors recommend a Mother and Daughter banquet as an especially good idea for Junior Institutes.

Adanac and Underwood: "An address by the Director of the County Children's Aid Society."

Birkhall: A speaker on Credit Unions. Oak Hill recommends a debate on Education but the specific subject of their debate is not given. Oshweken had an interesting child study panel discussion on raising children from infancy to their teens.

McCrimmon at the March meeting had an exhibit of handwork done by members during