

North Thamesville Women's Institute prize-winning float in the centennial parade at Florence fall fair featured an old-time quilting bee with the quilters dressed in styles of one hundred years ago.

taught us things about ourselves that we are not aware of; and to be more cautious about how we treat people, especially those of other races."

Bloomington had an address by the Coordinator of Guidance of the Kitchener Secondary schools at a meeting where the women had their husbands as guests. Ennotville had a lecture on "The Significance of Guidance in Education Today" by a teacher from the district high school.

Winterbourne members like book reviews at their winter meetings. Most of the reviews are of books in their library depot at the time, which results in members taking out more books to read. Often there is a waiting list for the books reviewed. Along the line of historical research there was a roll call, "Who has lived in my house?"

Laura Rose branch found a visit to Macdonald Institute and a tour of the building particularly interesting.

Greenock recommends a sale of plants, shrubs and bulbs each spring. The report says: "Such an interest has been created in our annual sale that some members make requests for plants they want at the previous meeting." Because of this interest they are planning to have a program on horticulture at their May meeting — the day of the sale — next year.

Millgrove mentions having a film on Canadian history.

Sheffield reports that their program on fire and electrical safety was one of their best and resulted in the investigation of the members' own property for safety. Uniondale also reports that as the result of the Hydro demonstration at their fall convention a member had electrical work done on her house to remove a fire hazard.

Strabane had an interesting address on "The Care of the Aging" by the Superintendent of the County Lodge. This was at the meeting where members' husbands were guests.

Troy makes this comment: "every member's name appeared on the printed program."

Carlake had an address from the agricultural Representative on Vertical Integration, and from the County Librarian a talk on books, suggesting what would make a good course in reading.

Bethesda had a librarian speak to them on Books for Children; they consider this one of their best program features of the year.

Buttonville Junior Institute's programs have included a talk on Courtship and Marriage, films with talks on Forgery and Breaking and Entering, and the film This Land is Mine on the use of electricity by a representative of the Ontario Hydro Commission.

Markham had an address on School Safety Patrols by their Chief Constable who inaugurated safety patrols in the village with excellent results.

Stouffville found a display of antique glass by a dealer and his talk on its history very interesting.

Egypt had a demonstration on External Cardiac Massage by a doctor.

Elder's Mills had a roll call "Bring something on which to make music." The outcome