

At Grey County Summary Day at Markdale, these children are shown wearing clothes made as a result of the Home Economics Extension Clothing Course "Focus on Finishes".

this month, plus two more ladies, to make pictures for Christmas gifts. The total then will be eighty-five that have benefited from my taking the course. Last Friday another Women's Institute in our district asked me to teach their branch Copper Tooling.

Several of the class that took Millinery make their own hats and also make some for sale. Some make them for their friends.

We were also very happy with the Leathercraft course and the advanced Leathercraft course in our group. I have made quite a number of wallets, belts and change purses and have two large purses cut out to put together when I can get the time.

The sewing course "Sew to save dollars and make sense" gave me the confidence I needed to do my own sewing and now I make most of my own clothes.

I have made two rugs and have two more in the frames. Another leader and I taught this course after local leader training school. We had another class last spring.

We have just had a course in Block Printing and we hope to get some ladies interested so as to use this course as much as we have used the previous courses.

Centennial Suggestions

These suggestions for celebrating Canada's Centennial came from 4-H Homemaking Club girls' discussion groups at the Central Canada Exhibition. The questions were given to groups of girls to take over and they produced this summary of their ideas:

1. What can you do to make the Centennial meaningful to you?
  - Learn about your community
  - Make a float for a parade of progress
  - Keep a scrapbook
  - Visit sites that have historical meaning

Set up a community store and sell souvenirs

Take a trip to a different province

Help beautify your home

Make old-fashioned clothes and perhaps sell some

Participate in community celebrations

Learn more about your country

Become bilingual, or try

Take part in student exchange program

Go to the World's Fair

Decorate your home as in old fashion

Dress in old-fashioned clothes for one week

2. What can you do to help your family commemorate the centennial?

Join in family activities

Tour parts of Canada together

Beautify the home, plant flower garden as a family project

Study family tree to find what relatives did in 1867

Have a family reunion

Visit Upper Canada Village

Work with your family to improve Canada

3. What does your community have planned for 1967?

Conserve old houses for tourist attractions

Have a community museum

Renovating buildings

Building community halls, parks, farm museum

Restoring oldest house in county, blacksmith shop

4. How can you help in these projects?

Giving community ideas

Money support

Making your own home beautiful

Help raise money by projects

Offer your own time to help

Make costumes of 1867-1967 and have a fashion show
