

warned against over watering and suggested that they transplant when they have two leaves. He said six weeks before putting outside was normal planting.

Resolutions

Resolutions—They came through with resolutions for after all what is a convention without resolutions. Their recommendations dealt with health services, and a request for home economics extension services. They viewed with interest plans for better housing, for building better and larger houses in the settlements, mentioning that women should be given an opportunity to make recommendations regarding the same. They registered concern for the social problems created by the consumption of alcohol within the Northwest Territories. Father Adam suggested certain procedures for this. They finally asked that outlets close at 11:00 o'clock and that case beer would be sold to 9:00 p.m. only and that stiffer sentences be dealt to suppliers of liquor to minors.

Thanks to Ontario

I do wish to commend my long time friends the Ontario Women's Institutes for their generous contribution to the UNESCO Gift Coupon No. 367, which has made possible special leadership to northern territorial citizens. If you had had the privilege of sitting with them at their first convention, and now recalling their somewhat silent, early beginnings, you would have been proud, thrilled and richly rewarded. Things are happening slowly but they are happening. Leadership and encouragement will continue to be prime needs. So what next? Leadership of the sort that will continue to their development and that will mean working along with them in helping them to help themselves. Yes, what next? Will you be prepared to continue this worthwhile undertaking?

Miss Eadie makes the acquaintance of a young Eskimo in from Stringer Hall, who has just returned from a centennial scholarship trip to Quebec.

Vanier Commemorative Spoons

The present Governor General and Madame Vanier have captured the admiration and love of Canadians in all areas and of none more than those in rural Canada. Institute members are especially grateful for their contribution of the Vanier Institute of the Family. So the commemorative spoons, one bearing the portrait of the Governor General, one the portrait of Madame Vanier, have a special significance. The spoons can be had only through organizations selling them for charitable purposes. They come singly at $1.50 retail and boxed as a pair at $3.00. Wholesale the spoons cost $1.00 each. Sales tax and postage are prepaid, so there is a profit to the W.I. of 50 cents on every spoon sold. Orders should be sent to S. Pearl Clark, 66 Rosedene Avenue, Hamilton, Ontario.

Adelaide Hoodless Biography

THE PAMPHLET, "Adelaide Hoodless—Woman With a Vision" written by Ruth Howes, is now on sale at the F.W.I.C. office, Room 28, 46 Elgin St., Ottawa; price 25 cents. Copies may also be purchased at the Adelaide Hunter Hoodless Homestead, St. George, Ont.

This is a most interesting and informative biography. Facts relating to Mrs. Hoodless's public life have been pretty well publicized and are well known to many Women's Institute members, but Mrs. Howes has discovered and given us in this book personal glimpses into the family background and the girlhood of Adelaide Hunter that are a joy to read. The author's research through newspaper clippings at the height of Mrs. Hoodless's career, tributes at the time of her death and quotations from her speeches also brings to light a good deal of information new to most of us. Among the excellent illustrations, one of special interest is a picture of Mrs. Hoodless photographed with her children in 1887. Anyone interested in the Women's Institute movement, or in the history of home economics, in Canada or in the lives of great Canadian women should have a copy of "Adelaide Hoodless — Woman With a Vision."