TAKE TIME FOR TEN THINGS

1. Take time to work—it is the price of success.
2. Take time to think—it is the source of power.
3. Take time to play—it is the secret of youth.
4. Take time to read—it is the foundation of knowledge.
5. Take time to worship—it is the highway of reverence and washes the dust of earth from our eyes.
6. Take time to help and enjoy friends—it is the source of happiness.
7. Take time to love—it is the one sacrament of life.
8. Take time to dream—it hitches the soul to the stars.
9. Take time to laugh—it is the singing that helps with life's loads.
10. Take time to plan—it is the secret of being able to have time to take time for the first nine things.

MEETING HOUSE HILL

I must be mad, or very tired,
When the curve of a blue bay beyond a railroad track
Is shrill and sweet to me like a sudden springing
of a tune,
And the sight of a white church above thin trees
in a city square
Amazes my eyes as though it were the Parthenon
Clear, reticent, superbly final,
With the pillars of its portico refined to a cautious
elegance,
It dominates the weak trees,
And the shot of its spire sweeping the sky,
I am dizzy with the movement of the sky;
I might be watching a mast
With its royals set full
Straining before a two-reef breeze.
I might be sighting a tea-clipper,
Tacking into the blue bay,
Just back from Canton
With her hold full of green and blue porcelain,
And a Chinese coolie leaning over the rail
Gazing at the white spire
With dull, sea-spent eyes.

Amy Lowell.
