

Quinn — The convener of Home Economics and Health demonstrated the use of an electric broom. A member gave some useful hints on the control of flies.

Rocklyn — "Fire hazards in the home," provided the members with some useful information including how to get out should fire start, checking electric wiring, garbage, fire extinguishers, etc.

Hampton — Using the subject "Retirement" a speaker advised the members to make a plan, start a hobby, and be adventuresome as they approach the age for retirement.

Mrs. Alfred Watt Memorial — A blind lady spoke at a meeting of this branch, telling the members of the heartbreak and the adjustments necessary to carry on after this tragic happening in her life.

Odessa — "Bees and Honey" was the subject of an address at a branch meeting. The speaker gave a dead bee and a toothpick to each member as she described the body parts of the honey bee.

Whitechurch — Motto — "Let Us Be Understood". During the remarks on the motto the speaker used such modern expressions as "keep it cool", "uptight", "hungup", "zap and hack it". She then quoted a saying of Winston Churchill when he said, "I have nothing to offer but blood, sweat and tears"; and urged Women's Institute members to speak clearly and concisely.

The museum at Emo started and supported by the Women's Institutes of the Rainy River Centre District.

Mount Albert — The reeve of the township addressed the members of this branch telling them how municipal tax dollars are spent.

Teviotdale — A local banker spoke to the members of this branch on the subject "Financing of Interest to Women". He discussed the different kinds of accounts available to the public and different methods of investing money.

Using an antique sewing machine which she found six years ago, Mrs. Barbara Ebel of Listowel producing crafts which were displayed at the Maple Leaf Women's Institute Hobby Fair at Atwood.