The afternoon session proved to be informative and fashionable. Miss Carole Bennett, assisted by Mrs. Pat Jackson had us completely captivated by the many ways she demonstrated that one might wear a scarf to add that finishing, pleasing touch to one's appearance. The girls modelling for the demonstration found that either their necks or waists were fit to be tied!

One great accomplishment of the day was the election of a new Junior Women's Institute Board Director, Miss Susan Eller, to assist and follow Miss Marion Ruttan, whose term of office is soon coming to an end.

After sitting through and participating in the workshops of her choice, each girl could go back to her club and duties more aware and more confident that she could now fulfill her responsibilities in that particular office.

Mrs. Clarence Diamond left us with one thought, "Anyone in the public eye is a Public Relations Officer for her organization. Whether you be a Public Relations Officer or a member, you should commit yourself to your task and do the best you can."

Margaret Oliphant had us all thinking with her mixer "Who Am I?" It was a fun way to get acquainted with fellow Junior Institute members.
