

Miss Dorothy Jarvis, of Rainy River, winner of the Florence P. Eadie Scholarship. Miss Jarvis has completed her Provincial Honours and is now studying at Confederation College in Thunder Bay.

of many Charlie Brown cartoons he left all present with a desire to try to understand others better, and several witty maxims such as, "If life hands you a lemon — make lemonade!" An interesting feature of this program was a mural — fifty feet long — done by members, entitled "Happiness Is —".

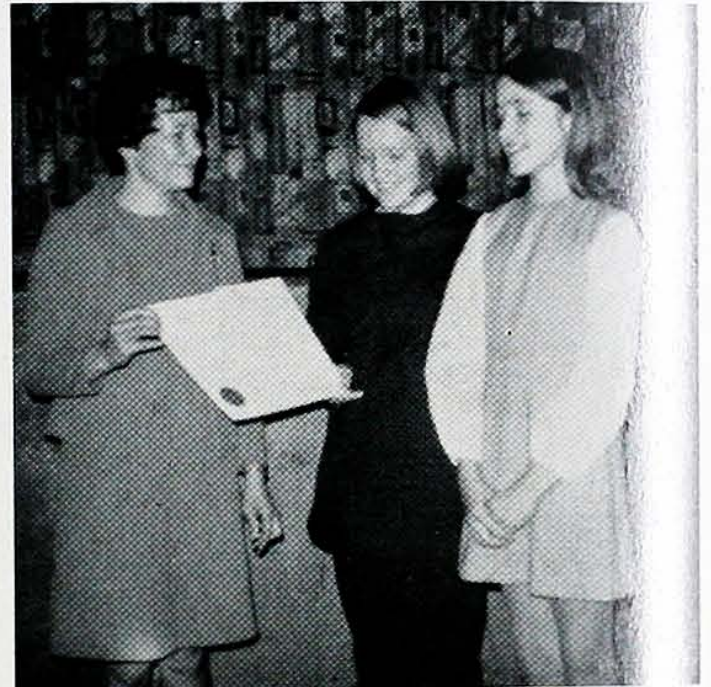

"Wake Up! Consumer" was the title of another program and Mrs. Kay Hodgins, Consumer Consultant with the Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs in Toronto was the speaker. Those present learned the procedures of her department, the job it does, the rights of a consumer and how to be a wiser shopper. The value of Box 99, Ottawa, was explained. Booklets were available for all on topics of household budgeting.

From left, Mrs. Meysa Clark, president; Mrs. Kay Hodgins, Consumer Consultant, Dept. of Consumer and Corporate Affairs; and Mrs. Myrna Leuty, vice president attending the "Marriage For Moderns" meeting sponsored by York Rd. Branch.

The final program was "A Roof Over Your Head". Mr. W. Humphries of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation in Peterborough showed a film "Buying Your Own Home" which presented, in a straight-forward manner, the ways of financing a home. A following discussion covered topics such as buying, building or renting a home. Also during this last program there were displays by the local lumber yards, paint and wallpaper shops and drapery and carpet store. The Branch president, Mrs. Neysa Clark, and Mrs. Myrna Leuty, ended the program series with a talk and demonstration on decorating short cuts and sources for more information on the topics that had been covered in the five evenings.

Each evening coffee was served during intermission, and at the close of each evening there were lucky draws for door prizes. Baskets of groceries and other prizes were donated by members.

Mrs. Errol Boa, left, President of the Prescott County Women's Institutes with Miss Nancy Allen of the Cassburn Club and Miss Marian Higginson of the Greenlane Club.

These programs were offered as a community service, free of charge, in the neighbouring village of Brighton and advertised by circular letters, radio and newspaper. The Canadian Legion donated the use of their hall for four evenings and the United Church for one. An average of 50 to 75 people attended the series, including a number of husbands. Not as many young marrieds attended as had been hoped, perhaps 20% of the audience; however, the series was enthusiastically received by all attending and was a most exciting and rewarding experience for the Branch.

What next, York Road?
