

Junior Women's Institutes Convention

By Sharon Passmore

"Hey look, she's taking our picture," said Donna Lampman to Beverley Murphy.

"My mother told me there'd be days like this," said Margaret Oliphant having problems winding film onto a reel.

"What a place!" Jane Netzke and Mary Hamilton at Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum.

A Place to Stand

"The future of Junior Women's Institutes of Ontario is in your hands — grab on to it, mold it and watch it contribute to the personal development of our homes and our country." At the Annual Fall Conference, Miss Margaret Oliphant, Past President J.W.I.O. left us with this remark to think about. It is a statement every one of us as Junior Women's Institute members should consider with much thought.
