

Charter members of the Elma Women's Institute. Standing from left — Miss Jean Armstrong, Mrs. Don Dillabough, Mrs. Hyndman MacMillan. Seated from left — Mrs. Edgerton Barkley, Mrs. Burril Beckstead, Mrs. Melvin Dillabough, Mrs. Hugh McMillan.

Yarmouth Glen — A branch meeting was held at an Outdoor Education Centre. The supervisor told of the work of the Centre where students from Grade 1 through to Grade XIII come to study animals and birds and to take trips into the woodlot.

Aylmer — A speaker from the local police force told those attending a branch meeting that the first three objectives of a policeman is preservation of life, protection of the public, prosecution of offenders. He warned every home owner to have the number of the police department right next to his telephone.

Ballinafad. A speaker told those attending a branch meeting that old school readers were now being printed in paperback and sell at prices ranging from $2 to $4.

Hockley Valley — Roll Call. "I am an Institute member because . . ."

Blount — "Which is more influential in bringing up a child, — Home, School, Church? Why? This roll call started an interesting discussion at a branch meeting.

Alton Commenting on the motto a speaker reminded the members and guests of the Biblical proverb, "Train a child in the way he should go and he will not depart from it."

Orangeville. Roll Call — An item of interest in the last Home and Country.

Carley — Roll Call from the November meeting was a verse or a thought on Remembrance Day. One member showed pictures of Wartime cemeteries in France taken on a trip to Europe.

Louise — The Branch Tweedsmuir History was displayed at a branch meeting. There was also a showing of antiques with an explanation of each article.

Tyrconnell With the payment of their dues each member told why they liked being a member of the Women's Institute.

Lynedock Roll Call — "My Favourite Author" A comment on the roll call was, "Good reading develops the mind."

Mrs. Johnston, Public Relations Officer for the Pine Orchard Branch, presenting Mrs. Wood with a corsage and Women's Institute badge on the occasion of her 90th birthday.