Maple Hill. A paper on the care of winter boots presented those attending a branch meeting with some useful information.

Picton Roll Call—What can we do to produce less garbage. It was suggested that selection of goods without unnecessary packaging might help.

Gadshill — A public health nurse spoke at a branch meeting and discussed examination of preschool children, inspection of public eating places, prenatal care and follow up visits to the aged, etc.

Langton — A demonstration on boning, rolling and preparing a fifteen pound turkey was a feature of a branch meeting. Motto for the day was "It is our responsibility not ourselves that we should take seriously."

Maple Valley Motto — "The Three R's for Home Training, Respect, Reverance, Responsibility. The speaker quoted Plato who said, "The penalty people pay for not being interested in politics is to be governed by people worse than themselves."

Brunner — A history of thread, crocheting, tatting and quilting was given at a branch meeting.

Belfountain Rockside. Members and guests answered the motto by bringing an out-of-the-ordinary article. One lady brought a curry comb. The motto for this meeting was "Prejudices are the chains forged by ignorance to keep men apart."

Grey West — A women's editor of a local newspaper explained points to remember when sending reports to the newspapers at a Workshop for Public Relations Officers.

Little's Corners — Motto — "Every member is a Public Relations Officer for her branch. Are you helping or hindering you? Commenting on the motto a member said "The success of any enterprise depends to a great extent on the picture they present to the public."

Bothwell's Corners. This branch and nearby branches entertained an English Women's Institute member with an afternoon travelling tea. In this way the visitor was able to see several Canadian homes.

Hunta — This branch sponsored a Penny Sale and the proceeds were donated to the Hospital Building Fund.
