"I can honestly say that it makes me proud to be a Women's Institute member and to be part of a greater organization of 8 million members all over the world — the ACWW. I belong to a non governmental organization that has consultative status with one of the highest organizations of all — the United Nations.

"In conclusion, I would say I have enjoyed my term of office, met many fine ladies at all levels, all co-operative and eager to assist in any undertaking. It is my wish that each of you will strive to uphold the Women's Institute which is a stable element in a rather unstable society and a steward of worthy standards."
