

SHE ATTENDED LADIES NIGHT OF FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Mrs. McKinley Morden, charter member of Stoney Creek Branch celebrated 100th birthday in June. The former Jennie McFarlane, 2nd youngest of 11 children, recalls working with four generations in Women's Institutes and is glad she has experienced a bit of all generations.

She feels in her day everything centred around the home, now children seem to be left alone a great deal. In the beginning it seemed we worked so much on the problems concerning farmers' wives, now we've broadened and more concerned about women's problems in general, not only around Stoney Creek but world wide. She smiled when women's lib was mentioned, saying it's not new, Women's Institute members have always had it. She shook hands with the Queen in 1959, something "I'll never forget." Now a resident of Beacon Hill Lodge, she matched wits with her guests and enjoyed "her" day.

130 HOURS OF QUILTING

Mrs. Arthur Holmes, Queensboro WI member wanted to do something special in International Women's Year, which incidentally was her 65th birthday year as well. She quilted a quilt called "Grampa's Place". In 1975 she designed and quilted a quilt, "Places in Queensboro" which included her own home and 8 surrounding buildings. This unique quilt took 130 hours to quilt. Last year she also had published a book of poems entitled "Memory Book of Poems".

Gilbert Mills WI enjoyed craft demonstration by Mrs. Ford Curlette, articles of weaving, caning, pottery, painting and macrame were displayed.
