RESTITUTION

Gwen Hall, a member of the Dauphin Citizens Committee on Restitution felt society seems to be in a crisis situation as to what to do with delinquent children. Public sentiment are cornerstones of successful delinquent programs. She went on to tell about the Dauphin Restitution program bridging the gap between the system and the public. Essential ingredients are accountability, recognition of the victim, partnership between agencies and publics and then evaluating the overall success of programs.

Personal involvement through community volunteers is the key, society needs dedicated people without being soft, yet tough in decision making.
